CUT DOWN ON SUGAR! NO SHIPS TO CARRY

Transportation of Cuban and Hawaiian Stocks Difficult

SOME HOARDING

Food Administration Urges Moderation for a Time

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Reduced consumption of sugar was asked of the American people today by the food administration "that a threatened shortage in the Allied countries may be averted. Lack of ships to move the Cuban and Hawaiian crops promptly, it is declared, makes it necessary that this country share its sugar supply with Europe.

"The conservation asked of the American people," the administration's statement says, "does not necessarily demand great sacrifices. It only needs the elimination of waste and the careful use of sugar to enable America to make up the difference required by the needs of the Allies.

"It is not actually a lack of sugar that emphasizes the need for its conservation in the United States so much as it is inability to get the sugar to the places where needed. The world shortage is comparatively small and confined to Europe. With the stocks on hand in this country and in Cuba and those now coming from Hawaii, it would appear that with proper management, and with speculation and hording eliminated, there need be no scarcity, even in the immediate future while awaiting the new crop."

The world's sugar supply is estimated this year at 18,659,792 tons against an average production of 18,712,9997. American consumption for the first half of the present year was slightly larger than last year, which the food administration attributes to hoarding within the household.

PARADE TODAY IN HONOR OF ARMY

Rain or Shine President Wilson Will Take Part

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Rain or shine tomorrow, President Wilson, members of both houses of Congress, high officials and diplomats and thousands of citizens, soldiers and sailors, will march down Pennsylvania avenue from the Capitol to the White House, in honor of the district's first quota of men for the new national army.

As many of the drafted men as desire—and the number probably will run into the thousands—also will march. They will be accorded a place near the President. Small banners will be used to designate the different sections, but the only flag to take the breeze as the scores of bands strike up their martial music and the great column moves forward, will be the one to which the soldiers have dedicated their lives, the "Stars and Stripes."

The Senate and House will adjourn early in order to participate. Some of the older men will be provided with carriages, if they want them, but at least two House veterans, Speaker Clark and Former Speaker Cannon, will walk with the boys who are off to war.

The speaker and his predecessor gave the committee to understand that being only 67 and 81 years old, respectively, they were quite young enough to walk or even jig a little, if necessary.

The French and Mexican ambassadors and their wives have accepted invitations and others from the diplomatic circle are expected to participate.

Not Much Clothing

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Drafted men of the first five per cent contingent who will leave Wednesday for mobilization camps are directed in regulations issued today to take a minimum of civilian clothing and personal belongings. Toilet articles, towels and handkerchiefs are recommended and no objection will be made to two changes of underclothing, but other articles are frowned upon.

Attention is called to the fact that civilian clothing will be discarded when camp is reached and to those not desiring to send such apparel back home it was suggested that clothing not worth keeping be worn. The men may carry only light hand baggage on the train, and, as suitcases and handbags will not be allowed for permanent use at camp, articles may be carried in bundles if desired.

Before reporting to the local board, drafted men should have their hair cut very short; should be bathed and wear clean clothing. To insure quick communication with his family, each recruit is advised to provide himself with post cards or stamped envelopes.

GERMAN LEADER IN RUSSIA DEAD

PETROGRAD, Sept. 3—Boris Vladimirovitch Sturmer, former premier died tonight from uraemia.

Sturmer, with the late monk Rasputin and former Minister of the Interior Prototopoff, formed the trio known as "the dark forces" which aroused the Russians to revolt against the regime of Emperor Nicholas. In June last Sturmer was indicted under a law which provided severe punishment for the arbitrary transgression by a Russian official of the limits of his right-ful power.

FAIL IN FIGHT TO INCREASE WAR PROFIT TAX

Only Twenty Senators Vote With La Follette on Amendment

SOME CHANGES

But Final Vote Tomorrow Will Have Bill About Same

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The Senate spent today's holiday in the sharpest clashes of its fight over war profits taxation and again decisively defeated proposals of the high tax advocates.

Senator La Follette's maximum amendment for war profit taxes proposing a flat increase of 10 per cent over existing rates, was rejected by a vote of 55 to 20. Another by the Wisconsin senator for a 65 per cent increase was defeated, 53 to 17.

The final vote on the war profits section is to be taken Wednesday, but the bill's provision as now written for an increase of about one-third, or $1,680,000,000 is expected to stand.

Tomorrow another amendment by Senator La Follette for a 60 per cent gross levy will come up, together with a complete substitute proposed by Senator Hollis for the finance committee's compromise provision.

Three More With Minority.

But three recruits were gained in today's voting by the high tax advocates, in addition to the seventeen who voted Saturday for Senator Johnson's maximum proposal of an 80 per cent tax. Senators Kling, McKellar and Trammell voted for both of the La Follette proposals.

A few additions are expected on other pending amendments for various flat taxes down to 43 per cent, but Senator Borah said today after the vote on Senator La Follette's maximum amendment that the bill probably would go to the President bear-

M'ADOO MAY MAKE TOUR OF PACIFIC COAST

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Secretary McAdoo is considering a Liberty loan tour some time in October to the Pacific coast with stops at chief cities.

WELCOME PERSHING AS OF ALSATIAN EMIGRANT STOCK

PARIS, Sept. 2—The report that the ancestors of Major General Pershing, commander of the American forces in France, were an Alsatian family which emigrated to America in 1749 has met with immediate acceptance in France, where the general has made a wonderful impression on all, civil and military, who have come in contact with him. A Frenchman's idea of what an American general is in no way resembled the head of the American Expeditionary Force and it must be admitted that French admiration and enthusiasm have been all the greater on that account.

A certain number of Protestant families left Alsace in the eighteenth century owing to restrictions imposed by Louis XIV's government on the free exercise of their religion.

PORTUGUESE SHIP SUNK BY A MINE

Fourteen of Crew Are Drowned—First Loss Due to War

LISBON, July 29.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The first disaster through war to the Portuguese navy occurred this week. Vigilance outside the Lisbon bar and along the coast has been redoubled of late and Portuguese patrol boats and mine sweepers are constantly sent to clear the various zones where mines are profusely scattered by submarines and neutral barks.

A small flotilla was engaged in this work on Friday and on the return home the ships in the rear heard an explosion and saw a column of smoke ahead. The patrol ship Pedro Nunes had struck a mine and foundered within a few seconds. Fourteen of the crew were drowned, including the captain.

A submarine also has sunk an English ship, the Locksly, a Norwegian vessel and two Portuguese sailing ships loaded with wines and preserves for France, off the north coast of Portugal.

CLARENCE DARROW DENOUNCES PACIFISTS

ROCKFORD, Ill., Sept. 3.—Before a large Labor day gathering here Clarence Darrow, nationally known labor orator, today denounced pacifists and declared that "severe pacifist agitation is aimed in Berlin."

FREE SPEECH NOT TO BE USED AS TREASON'S CLOAK

CHICAGO, Sept. 3—"So far as I am concerned, I purpose to put it to the test, that those who are not for the government are against it," said Governor Frank O. Lowden tonight in a statement made after a conference with Attorney General U. J. Brundage in regard to the meeting of the Council for Democracy and Peace, held under orders from Mayor Thompson before the governor could get troops to Chicago to prevent the meeting. The statement said:

"The fact is that the antecedents, the personnel and the propaganda of the so-called National Council of America for Democracy and Peace make it a treasonable conspiracy. Such a conspiracy ought not, when the nation is battling for its life, to find shelter under a claim of freedom of speech.

"If we lose this war, real free speech will be lost, and this society, which now claims privilege, will contribute to that result. A treasonable conspiracy is none the less a crime because it is staged in public. A crime is not less a crime because the world is taken into the confidence of those who commit it.

"I shall employ the full power of the state in suppressing the meetings of this society. What I have said of this organization applies equally to others who may seek to obstruct the government in the prosecution of this war. Freedom of speech will be respected, but in Illinois will not be permitted as a cloak of treason. The time has come to find out who are for the government and who are against it. This is the only classification which matters at the present time. If, as some suggest, the people generally are disloyal to their government, let us know it and let us know it now."

The governor would not say whether he contemplated any further action in regard to Mayor Thompson for overriding the orders forbidding the meeting of the peace council. The governor tonight reiterated his orders to Adjutant General Dickson to prevent all meetings similar to that of the peace council. The troops sent to Chicago by the governor on Sunday will remain for the time being to carry out these orders.

BANDIT, CORNERED, TAKES HIS OWN LIFE

Alleged Dynamiter of Publisher's Home Dies Fighting

MONTREAL, Sept. 3.—After being surrounded at Lachute yesterday by a posse of police and citizens, and fighting desperately until wounded, Joseph Leduc, alias Handfield, one of several bandits accused of dynamiting the home of Lord Athelstan, publisher of the Montreal Star, and of plotting to murder him two days previously, committed suicide by firing a bullet into his head.

Henry Monette alias Girard, and J. A. Tremblay, alleged dynamiters and companions of Leduc, were being pursued tonight by a posse of special police from Lachute and were said to be headed toward the Laurentian mountains.

Eli E. Lalumiere, the young anti-conscriptionist speaker who has assisted the authorities in hunting down the criminals who attempted to murder Lord Athelstan and his family at Catterville, has confessed it is alleged, that Leduc and Monette had also planned to shoot Lord Athelstan, but Lalumiere secretly removed the cartridges from their revolvers just before they started on their murderous mission.

WHY DEFECTIVE U. S. CARTRIDGES?

War Department and Senate Will Make Inquiries

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Steps looking to investigation of the supplying of defective cartridges to the American forces in France were taken today by Brigadier General Crozier, chief of ordnance, and by the Senate military committee.

General Crozier asked that a board of inquiry be named. He said a small quantity of ironside, which retards fire for a fraction of a second, had been found in about two per cent of the army's cartridges. Confidence was expressed by the general that the board would find that the defect was unavoidable, and not due to negligence either on the part of the manufacturers who supply the chemicals or to ordnance separate inspectors.

The Senate committee decided to call Secretary Baker before it tomorrow for explanation of the matter and will then decide whether to pursue an investigation of its own. Whether the inquiry suggested by General Crozier shall be made, will be decided by Secretary Baker when the request reaches him tomorrow.

Any defective ammunition which may have been supplied the navy by the war department ordnance bureau will be traced and returned for re-manufacture. While the faulty cartridges comprise about two per cent of the army's stock, General Crozier said about 10 per cent will have to be reprimed since the slow-firing cartridges are mixed with others turned out from the Frankford arsenal during a certain period last spring. New primers will be attached to all still in this country and the quantity held by the expeditionary force will be used for target practice.

WILL NOT JOIN A. F. L.

BOSTON, Sept. 3.—The National Association of Postoffice Laborers at its sixth annual convention today voted against affiliating with the American Federation of Labor at this time.

ILLINOIS COUNCIL MAY PROCEED AGAINST MAYOR

Troops Still Held to Prevent Further Pacifist Assemblages

MAYOR IN HIDING

Pacifists Seek Chance to Speak at Labor Meetings

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—It was announced tonight by officers of the National Security League that a meeting of the executive committee would be held tomorrow to consider plans for placing charges against Mayor Thompson before a grand jury as a result of his granting permission to the People's Council to hold a peace meeting after it had been forbidden by Governor Lowden. H. H. Merrick, president of the Security League said it was the purpose of the league to seek the co-operation of the State Council of Defense, the city council and the Citizens' War Board to carry out such steps as "will be necessary to bring about the early removal of the mayor."

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Delegates to the People's Council of America for Democracy and Peace, made no effort to hold a public meeting today or tonight. Several conferences were held at hotels where the delegates are quartered.

Some of the pacifists attended a labor picnic, having previously announced they would make speeches there if permitted to do so. None made an address. A force of deputy sheriffs were sent to the picnic grounds by Sheriff Traeger, who has been co-operating with Adjutant-General Dickson since the arrival of the four companies of National Guardsmen from Springfield on Sunday night.

Sheriff Traeger declined to state what instructions had been given to the deputies, adding that he was co-operating with Adjutant-General Dickson and would be governed by instructions from the commander of the state troops. The troops were held in readiness throughout the day at the First Regiment armory.

Mayor Thompson, by whose instructions the meeting of pacifists was held under police protection, was in seclusion throughout the day. Members of the State Council of Defense discussed the possibility of action against the mayor for what was regarded as his illegal action in permitting the pacifist meeting to be held in defiance of Governor Lowden's orders. Members of several patriotic organizations also informally discussed the mayor's action. None announced any formal step toward a plan of procedure against the mayor.

Governor Silent

Governor Frank O. Lowden arrived in Chicago today to take personal charge of the situation arising out of the meeting of the conflict of authority between himself and Mayor Thompson with whose aid the people's council of America for democracy and terms of peace was able to hold a meeting yesterday, after it had been interdicted by the governor.

After various conferences, Governor Lowden left for Ottawa, Illinois, to make a Labor Day speech, leaving an impression behind with his friends and associates that he considers the meeting of the People's Council of America for Democracy and Terms of Peace as a closed incident.

Attorney General Brundage, who talked with the governor, said that the governor also seemed to regard the fact that Mayor Thompson disregarded his instruction in protecting the meeting of the council also as a closed incident. It appeared that the governor, although he is said to have the power to start ouster proceedings against the mayor, has no present intentions of doing so.

Guards Return

The city hall was closed except for Chief Schuettler's office.

"So far as I can learn there is no prospect of another meeting of the pacifists," said the chief. "Apparently they concluded their work yesterday." Most of the delegates, however, were reported as still in the city.

The Seventh Illinois infantry which was called out last night by General Carter, commanding the Central department U. S. A., was back on routine duty today. General Carter permitted them to return to their homes late

CANADIANS VETO CONSCRIPTION BILL

British Columbians to Put Candidates in Field to Repeal

VANCOUVER, Sept. 3.—Power to call a general strike as a protest against conscription, was vested in the executive committee of the British Columbia Federation of Labor at a convention here today. Fifty-five of the delegates, who represented nearly every class of organized labor in the province, voted in favor of the move; eight opposed it.

As a further protest the convention decided to put candidates in the field in the federal elections who, if elected, will work for the repeal of the law.

A referendum by the unionists early in the year showed an overwhelming number opposed to compulsory service. President Joseph Naylor, who recommended placing labor candidates in the field, told the convention that he did not think that conditions warranted calling a strike as yet and asked that the executive committee be given the right to call the strike at its discretion.

J. M. McVety, former president of the Vancouver Trades and Labor council stated tonight that in the event of a strike in British Columbia, between 10,000 and 12,000 men would be affected.

LAWYERS VOICE VIGOROUS SUPPORT FOR WAR

German Domination Peril to Entire World's Liberty

ROOT CHAIRMAN

Aid to Be Given by Profession to Men in Service

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Sept. 3.—Lawyers of America were urged to sound a "cry of alarm" throughout the nation for a successful prosecution of the war, in an address delivered today by Elihu Root, before the conference of Bar Association delegates, an organization allied with the American Bar Association. He urged that members of the bar "exert every influence he possesses, over his clients, friends and associates" in that direction.

"It has become evident," he said, "that this is a conflict between two opposed and inevitably opposed systems of government, of policy, of politics, of humane society. It has become evident that more than a generation of careful preparation had been made for this very thing, and that the democracies of the world rejoicing in peace and prosperity in political freedom and in individual liberty, were in great measure and in differing degrees unprepared to meet this attack upon them.

"Slowly they have gathered to the support of the principle of their lives, the principle upon which they live, against the adverse attack on this principle, the domination of which means the death of democracy and the everlasting destruction of the system of individual liberty of which we are the high priests of the bar.

"So long as there exists a great and powerful military autocracy which has the purpose to secure domination by military force, so long republics, democracies, countries which preserve individual freedom and individual rights, countries which subordinate government to freedom must be at the mercy of autocracy. As well go to sleep with a burglar sitting in your front hall as to talk about the peace and security of a democracy with Germany still competent to pursue its career of domination.

Will Affect Us All.

"We are in the fight and the stake for which we fight is liberty, and it is our bar, which stands at the door through which oppression would enter. It is not so easy for the farmar to see there will be a difference in his crops, or in the sale of them, for the manufacturer to see that any one will stop wearing clothes or shoes or using machinery; but it is easy for us to see that with the domination of that military system that subordinates the law, that makes the bar but a cog to an administrative system of government and leaves to the bench no independence—it is easy for the lawyer to see that everything he has contended for of individual liberty and the supremacy of the law over executive power—will be attacked and destroyed if we do not succeed in this war."

Root spoke after he had been elected chairman of the conference. He was interrupted by applause many times during the address.

The delegates indorsed a plan which pledges the lawyers to give legal aid to those entering the Federal or state service and the local exemption boards; to conserve the practice of lawyers entering such service; to co-operate in relief work, including gratuitous assistance in probating the estates of those who have died while in the service; and assiting the Federal and state authorities in all activitis in connection with the war, including providing public speakers for the promotion of patriotism and patriotic endeavor.

Henry R. Rathbone of Chicago, who proposed the resolution was authorized to offer it before the American Bar Association, which meets here tomorrow. Efforts made in many cities to give free legal aid to the worthy poor were endorsed in a resolution urging state and local bar associations to foster the formation in their respective jurisdictions of legal aid societies.

GUARDS DISPERSE STRIKE RIOTERS

Mob of 1,000 Wreck Street Cars and Headquarters

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 3.—Charging with fixed bayonets, Illinois guardsmen tonight dispersed a mob of more than 1,000 street car strike sympathizers who half an hour before had wrecked four street cars and were then attacking the headquarters of the railway company intent on wrecking and ransacking the building.

Dispersed by the soldiers, from the corner in the main business section, where the cars had been attacked, the mob headed for the offices of the railroad company and the Springfield Gas and Electric Company, subsidiary.

Six soldiers on guard at the building held the crowd in check for some time, but holder ones in the mob finally started hurling bricks at the plate-glass windows, riddling the front of the building. As reinforcements arrived and charged them with the butts of their guns, the rioters fled in confusion, a few of them being trampled but none seriously injured. No shots were fired by the soldiers.

GENEVA, Sept. 3.—The Swiss sanitary authorities at Basel and all along the German frontier are taking measures to prevent dysentery, typhus and scarlatina, which prevail in Rhine towns, from entering Switzerland. All travelers coming from Germany are required to undergo medical examination. The epidemics are said to be due to insufficient nourishment.

RUSSIANS GIVE UP RIGA TO ADVANCING TEUTONIC FORCES

Austrians Have Lost 128,000 Men in Present Offensive by Cadorna; New Air Raid on England

Riga, Russia's big port on the gulf of Riga, is in the hands of the Germans, and its garrison and the civilian population are in retreat eastward.

Following up rapidly the advantage they gained in driving the Russians across the Dvina river on both sides of Uxkull last Saturday, the Germans threw bridges across this stream and soon were on the heels of the former defenders, some of whom offered resistance, but others of whom showed the white feather, giving the invaders no trouble in marching up the eastern bank of the Dvina toward Riga, fifteen miles distant. Seeing the disaffection and the inability to stem the tide of the advance, the Russian commander ordered an evacuation.

With the falling back of the Russians from the city proper and the advance of the Germans northward along both sides of the stream, the Russians still defending the western bank around Dahlen, seemingly are in danger of being caught between the two fast moving bodies of the enemy and made prisoner.

Lay Country Waste

Behind them the Russians in their retreat from Riga are laying the country in waste, burning villages and farms. Whether the city itself remains intact has not yet been made known, but doubtless the guns in the fortress and the ammunition stores either were moved or destroyed to prevent them falling into the hands of the Germans.

Aside from the strategic value of controlling the gulf of Riga and of a base nearer the mouth of the gulf of Finland, at the head of which Petrograd is situated, for the moment it is impossible to see the importance of the German gain, especially with the near approach of winter, when military operations in this northern region are almost impossible.

Terrible Austrian Losses

On none of the other fronts have there been operations of great moment, except in the Austro-Italian theater, where the Italians have made further progress on the Bainsizza plateau and in the Brestovizza valley and at various points along the line have repulsed fresh counter attacks launched by the Austrians. Violent artillery duels are in progress from Tolmino to the sea.

Advices to the Italian embassy in Washington are to the effect that the Austrians have lost more than 128,000 men in the present offensive. Reports from Udine, Italy, give the Austrian losses as one-third of the first line army.

No Advance in Flanders

The batteries of Field Marshal Haig are still pouring an incessant fire against the German trenches in Flanders, but as yet the anticipated new dash by his men to capture them has not started.

Artillery duels, which are somewhat violent in the Verdun region, are taking place along the French front. No infantry actions of importance have occurred.

German air raiders Monday night again paid a visi to England, the second time in as many days, dropping bombs. No casualties are reported.

Shows Army Weakness

LONDON, Sept. 3.—The evacuation of Riga by the Russians recalls the statement of General Korniloff, commander-in-chief of the Russian armies at the Moscow conference:

GRAND JURY TO PROBE CAR STRIKE

Attempt to Be Made Today to Run San Francisco Cars Again

SAN FRANCISO, Sept. 3—A special committee of the grand jury invited President Jesse W. Lilienthal of the United Railroad before it today to discuss conditions pertaining to the strike of the 1739 platform men of the company upon demands for higher wages and recognition of their union. The committee upon completion of its investigation is expected to report to the grand jury and a recommendation to the mayor is expected to follow.

No cars were run today by the United Railroads. Traffic was handled by additional motor buses operated by the city, municipal cars and privately owned buses.

President Lilienthal announced that service would be resumed at 5 o'clock tomorrow morning and that he had come to no decision as to service tomorrow night after 8 o'clock.

ASK CONFERENCE ON BUILDING WAGE

Employers and Workmen to Meet With Federal Moard

SEATTLE, Sept. 3.—The United States shipping board sent a telegram today asking the heads of three large shipbuilding companies to come to Washington at once for another conference over the wages of 12,000 shipyard workmen in Seattle who threaten to strike.

The representatives of the shipbuilders returned about ten days ago from a conference with the shipping board, but were unable to make terms. They will leave for Washington again tomorrow night.

Representatives of organized labor are already on the way to Washington at the request of the shipping board to consider a proposition for a settlement of the wage question in the shipyards here without a strike.

CALIFORNIA POTASH LAND OF GOVERNMENT

(Special to the Republican.)

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3.—Fourteen thousand acres of land probably will be leased in California by the government if a bill now pending in Congress is passed, according to Arthur W. Kinney, industrial commissioner of the chamber of commoers, who has just returned from Washington, where he was called to consult on the manufacture of airplanes and other war paraphernalia. The land contains potash.

"Potash is essential in the production of food and cotton and absolutely necessary in the manufacture of certain munitions," Kinney said today. "Its production is being increased constantly in the United States and it is probable the 14,000 acres will be leased in California.

"In 1913 the United States imported about 592,000 tons of potash while the domestic production was only 400 tons. In 1916 only 10,000 tons were imported, 16,000 tons were produced in this country."

JAPANESE TEACHER NOT TO BE LET IN

Pedagogy Not Learned Profession Within Meaning of Law

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 3.—United States District Judge Neterer filed a decision today holding that a school teacher is not a member of a recognized learned profession, and if a foreigner, may be excluded from this country under the immigration laws.

According to federal authorities here the decision will have a sweeping effect on the practice of importing teachers from foreign countries for employment in American schools. Many such teachers have been brought to the United States to teach foreign languages to native born American children of foreign parentage.

Judge Neterer's decision was rendered in the case of Kikuji Inouye a Japanese school teacher, who some time ago was detained by the immigration authorities at Seattle. The Japanese appealed his case to the secretary of labor but the latter affirmed the decision of the Seattle officials.

Inouye's release was then sought on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus. With the denial of this petition by Judge Neterer the Japanese now will be deported. Inouye cam to the United States to teach Japanese in a Japanese school at Guadalupe, California and was under contract to the Japanese association of that place.

IRISH CONVENTION MOVES TO BELFAST

Leaders Hopeful of Concrete Results for Island's Future

BELFAST, Sept. 3.—The members of the Irish convention arrived in Belfast tonight, the deliberations being transferred to this city from Dublin.

While the silence respecting the details of the convention's work, which the government has imposed upon the press under its defense of the realm act, coupled with the reticence of the delegates themselves, makes it impossible to publish, or even learn what the convention is accomplishing, the general impression in Ireland is unexpectedly hopeful.

It was freely predicted in Ireland that the convention would find itself hopelessly divided and break up after two or three sessions, but the fact that the delegates of all factions and creeds have been dining together and seen strolling together around the streets of Dublin indicates the bridging of the chasm which traditionally separates them and is regarded in itself as an almost unforeseen and cheering development.

KELLY TO FACE TRIAL

RED OAK, Iowa, Sept 3.—Rev. Lyn George J. Kelly will be brought here sometime during the night from Logan, Iowa, to face trial tomorrow on an indictment charging him with killing Lena Stillinger, 11 years old, one of the eight victims of the Villisca, Iowa, axe murders of 1912.

EARTHQUAKE IN MINNESOTA.

BRAINERD, Minn., Sept. 3.—According to reports received here today, an earthquake at 2:30 p. m. shook Brainerd and all of Crow Wing, Todd and Wadena counties. The shock lasted for eight seconds.

RUSSIANS GIVE UP RIGA TO ADVANCING TEUTONIC FORCES

"If our army does not help us to hold the shore of the gulf of Riga, the road to Petrograd will be opened wide."

While few believe that the Germans will undertake to penetrate to the Russian capital over the inhospitable road 350 miles in length, nevertheless the news is regarded as serious, for it shows that the Russian army is far from the recovery which has been so often predicted.

The abandonment of the city of Riga became necessary when through the instability of Russian regiments, the Germans are able to cross the Dvina river at Uxkull, thus threatening the road to Petrograd from the southwest, while another army advanced across the Tirul marshes and along the shore of the gulf of Riga toward the town. The penetration of the Russian positions at Uxkull is similarly likely to make necessary a re-arrangement of a part of the remaining Russian lines.

Moscow Preferred

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Abandonment of Riga in the face of the new German drive into Russia and even the evacuation of Petrograd itself, have been forecast as possibilities in confidential advices to the American government during the last two weeks. Such a development is not regarded with so much alarm as might be supposed.

With Riga abandoned and German occupation of Petrograd in prospect, the seat of the Russian provisional government undoubtedly will be moved to Moscow. Much as they may regret seeing the Russian capital occupied by a German army, the forceful thinking men of Russia, working to set up a government, may regard it as a blessing in disguise.

There are many advantages in moving the Russian capital to Moscow. It is the center of the conservative group and commands the sentimental —almost religious regard of the Russian populace as the ancient capital of the old empire, surrounded with traditions of Russia's greatness, the triumphs of Alexander, Catherine and Peter the Great.

Furthermore, some Russians of the new government are said to think that a German occupation of Riga and even Petrograd, might be a wholesome object lesson for the radical element which has been hampering the new government, and that an experience under the military heel of Germany might convince them of the need of supporting the government as now constituted to save their fatherland for Russia.

Cossacks Discontented

LONDON, Sept. 3.—The Petrograd correspondence of the Times predicts trouble in consequence of the treatment of the Cossacks by the provisional government and cites the statement that the rights and privileges of the Don Cossacks, consecrated by many centuries, have been cancelled, their peculiar elective offices abolished and government commissaries substituted. Under this order, General Kalebin, the Cossack commander, becomes a simple soldier, and after the Moscow conference at which the anti-Cossack campaign began openly, a personal altercation occurred between Premier Kerensky and General Kalebin.

The Kuban, Terek and Orenburg Cossacks have not yet been affected by the new order, but according to the correspondent, the blow that strikes one Cossack host must be felt by all the twelve armies adhering to the Cossacks league, and it is to be expected that they will not lamely submit.

Bulbs as Cattle Food

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 3.—It now transpires, according to the Handelsblad that the prohibition of the export of flower bulbs was issued with a view to controlling their export for abnormal use. By the removal of harmful ingredients, it was found possible to prepare very nourishing milk producing cattle foods of various sorts from the bulbs and last year about 200,000 kilograms of tulip bulbs went abroad as cattle food, presumably to Germany.

It now apparently has been decided to retain any such surplus for Dutch cattle owing to the lack of fodder as a consequence of the stoppage of American supplies.

"So Much in Vain"

PARIS, Sept. 3.—"It is a pity that so much blood has been shed in vain." A German officer, taken prisoner in the front French advance north of Verdun, is thus quoted by the Echo de la Rochelle and a staff officer who interrogated the German is given as authority for the interview.

The German paid homage to the heroic courage of the French soldiers, but tried to discourage the idea that help would be forthcoming from the United States, declaring that President Wilson was fooling the Allies.

To convince him, the German was taken before General Pershing, when tears rolled down his cheeks, and he remarked, sadly: "Since that is the case, it is all over. We are lost."

Families Divided

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—How Belgian families captured by Germans are separated by trickery and the men forced to work in trenches under shellfire, is told in a communication from Havre today to the Belgian legation.

"The civilians evacuated by the enemy from Langemarck, Elverdinghe, Woumen and Roulers do not include the men from 16 to 60 years old," it says. "The Germans oblige these to do trench work and several have been killed by shell fragments.

"The evacuation is carried out in the following manner: The inhabitants, loaded with their bundles, are escorted to the station. The women, children and old men are placed in the first railway carriages; the men from 16 to 60 years old in the rear ones. When the train starts the rear carriages are uncoupled. On reaching their destination, the families realize their sad fate.

"All the workmen of the regions of Courtrai and Menin have been requisitioned; two thousand civilians have thus been seized and compelled to work at the trenches."

Turkey Approves

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 3.—In an interview published in the Neue Freie Presse, Ambassador Hussein Hilmi Pasha, according to Vienna dispatch, said that the noble-minded character of the Pope's peace note was greeted in Turkey with special satisfaction. He was betraying no secret, he said, when he gave out the information that in the pending negotiations concerning a quadruple alliance the answer of the porte to the Pope's note would be that Turkey was co-operating heart and soul to obtain the most favorable response to the peace initiative, although not all the ideas read into the papal note on the enemy's side met with approbation.

"War of Effectives"

PARIS, Sept. 3.—Abel Ferry, a prominent member of the Chamber of Deputies, contributes an article to the Petit Parisien, on "the war of effectives," in which he says that the side whose reserves first gives out will be conquered. The general war plan of the Allies, he believes, must take into proper account the wear and tear of French effectives and also the losses and the resources in men of each one of the allies.

The deputy refers to the part in the war which has been played by the French army and says it should now consequence of the stoppage of American become the reserve army of the coalition. The reserves of the Allies, he writes, are superior to those of the Central Powers, their armaments are as good and they have the superiority in production.

Wave of Prosperity Is Due in Fresno

Fresno merchant says you have to go away to find out news about your own town.

D. Yezdan, merchant tailor at 2025 Mariposa street, got back to Fresno yesterday after spending a month visiting coast cities.

Said Mr. Yezdan this morning: "Of course I have always believed in Fresno and have helped boost for this city, but the enthusiasm over Fresno and the San Joaquin Valley shown by the business men on the coast was an eye-opener to me. Every traveling man coming to San Francisco brings tales of unusual orders taken in Fresno, so that the solid, substantial character of Fresno prosperity is appreciated more abroad than at home.

"One thing needed in Fresno is more and larger payrolls. I am going to start a movement to help increase payrolls in my line, clothes making for men. We can build up a great industry here if we only would work together."

Mr. Yezdan has a big plan in mind, which he will announce in a day or two.

SERB CAPITAL TO BE MOVED BACK

With Saloniki First Stopping Place in the Return

CORFU, ISLAND OF CORFU, (Correspondence of The Associated Press).—The Serbian government is preparing to move its entire government establishment back to the Balkans, going first to Saloniki and later to a point on Serbian soil near Monastir. The Greek government has already granted the request for the establishment of the Serbian administration at Saloniki and King Peter, Crown Prince Alexander and several of the cabinet ministers are now installed there.

There is much sentiment about this shift of Serbia back to its native soil. Since their tragic flight before the invading hordes from the north, king regent and government have found a temporary asylum on this island. They have lived simply, and the whole establishment has been located in a modest building formerly used as a hospital. The royal apartments and the ministry of foreign affairs occupied the first floor, while the finance, interior and other ministries were on upper floors. The French military authorities of the island have given every aid, and yet the Serbians have constantly longed to be back on their own soil.

This shift of a government back to the Balkans does not involve much moving of government property, for practically everything was lost in the flight before the invader. The minister of foreign affairs, M. Paschitz, told the writer that all the foreign archives were lost or abandoned during the exodus, and that not one of the old treaties or papers still exists. Even the previous secret treaty between Serbia and Greece, on which Serbia depended for united Balkan action against the Central Powers, was lost in the whirl of flight. So that the foreign department has had to begin all over again and piece together something like a record of Serbia's foreign relations.

Saved the Treasure

The minister of finance was more fortunate and managed to save most of the financial archives. What was of most importance, he saved the government treasure, amounting to several million dollars, which was sent to Marseilles and finally landed in a Paris bank.

The minister of the interior has already gone on to Saloniki and is laying out the extensive work of reconstructing the new Serbia, for the Serbs confidently look forward to reoccupying their old territory and building up a new and greater state. The minister has outlined plans for reconstructing the railways and bridges, most of which has been ruined by war operations, and for rebuilding the towns and cities.

The minister of education is also hard at work, trying to hold together the scattered remnants of young Serbia. Thousands of refugee Serb children have been gathered in in France and England, and Serbian professors have been provided for them in order that Serb teaching and traditions might be maintained, and the youth of Serbia preserved from being swallowed up in the general disaster which has overcome the country.

Wonderful War Picture Shows Mary Pickford as "The Little American"

"I Was neutral," said Mary Pickford, as "The Little American" on the battle line in France, "until you shot women and children." As a result of which determination the French guns were trained on the chateau, and the German destroyers of humanity were chased out of this particular part of the war front.

"The Little American" is a glorious war picture, a patriotic war picture, a terrible war picture, a gruesome picture of what war has always meant and the ten times more hellish character of this war over any one that has ever preceded it. The scene is for the most part laid in that part of the world which knows best of all who started the war, and who is keeping it up, the border land of northern France, where Germany's idealized "disciplined beasts" swept forward in 1914 on an unprepared neighbor and are still using their accumulated skill against the self respect of a world that would have been glad to have been neutral, if it had not seen women and children destroyed and the liberties of the whole world threatened. We have had many war pictures, but none have been like this in bringing a realization of the German power and the German determination to make the rest of the world, like the Gibeonites, "hewers of wood and drawers of water" for a self styled and self chosen people.

There is a romance of an American girl hesitating between a French lover and a German, and finally choosing the German; of his being ordered home prior to the breaking out of the War to prepare for the German onslaught on France and being in peril of German brutality; of her lover's impotence in the German war machine and his final breaking away, in time to help her and their final rescue and return to America, he not to be a "German-American," but an "American." This plot is but the thin thread upon which are strung a scene at sea in which the "Varitania" is sunk by a submarine; in which the French chateau of "Vangy" is captured by the French and then subjected to French artillery fire, and the scenes of horror that accompany the undiscipline of off moments in war it is a remarkable picture. A mint of money must have been spent on it. To see it is an opportunity not to be missed. Mary Pickford is the same Mary except that she is getting to be a better actress every day. James Neil, Hobart Bosworth, Ray Hanford, Jack Holt and many of the Lasky people form the supporting company in the film, now running at the White and Liberty auspices.

Squaw Man's Son.

Anita King and Wally Reid, were very, very good indeed, at Kinema last night. I really don't know which was best, they both played with such spirited zest, the race was very tight. "The Squaw Man's Son" was picture's name, the sequel of a white man's shame, the mixing of two breeds, a thing we know should not be done, even though pleasure could be won, to trouble such thing leads.

"Wahnagi" was Anita's name, she makes up swell as Indian dame, and Wally's name was "Hal;" and he was wedded to a wife who raised cain with his daily life, she sure was peppery gal, who used morphine her woes to drown, and carried it in low cut gown, and flirted with a lord, and didn't care for folks' remarks, provided she could have her larks, advice this lady bored. So here we have a bully plot, a pretty squaw right on the lot, a wife across the sea; a handsome chief of Indian cops, a lot of scenery for props it sure sounds good to me; for I know well there soon will come, a lot of things to make it hum, for I've a little sense; and when I see guns waving 'round I know that trouble will be found, be dead, toughlooking gents. It's such a show that first you're glad, and then you're angry and then sad, and then you clap and cheer; they shoot and bike and fight and kiss, the last-named thing I'd hate to miss, they insult, scorn and sneer. And there's one picture of Miss King, in which she is a pretty thing, attired in buckskin clothes, crouching in front of burning flame, she does not look so much a dame, as beautiful wild rose; and so to curtain let us go, for curtain always winds up show, and thank Reid for his tip; for he came back to Indian life, and asked the lass to be his wife, and didn't kiss her lip.

ing its present total tax levy of $2,500,000,000.

Many phases of the war situation were discussed during the seven-hour debate. Senator La Follette delivered another vigorous speech for higher rates on what he termed "blood profits." His remarks caused Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee, to suggest that the Wisconsin senator was attempting to "bombard" the Senate and pronounced two hot rebukes in which both senators were declared out of order by the presiding officer.

Senator La Follette contended that the committee's new plan would not increase the tax burden of great corporations, but would exempt their large surpluses. This was vehemently denied by Senator Simmons.

Senator Simmons declared that under the bill as it now stands at least half the corporations of the country will be taxed more than before, the tax alone of the steel corporation amounting to $153,734,000 this year, while the tax to be paid by the Du Pont Powder Company will be ten million more and that of the General Motors Company, $1,500,000. The net increase to be paid by the twenty leading corporations of the country will amount to $24,126,000, he said.

Senator Frelinghuysen, opposing the La Follette proposal, said it was fraught with great danger to business interests.

"To impose such unfair taxes and impair industry," he said, "would practically make certain the victory of Germany."

Borah for Higher Rate

Senator Borah addressed the Senate at length in favor of a tax of at least 60 per cent.

Citing the increasing war expense estimates of Secretary McAdoo, Senator Borah said he believed they ultimately would reach between $22,000,000,000 and $23,000,000,000 and possibly $25,000,000,000 for the first year, including loans to the Allies.

"This bill probably will finally provide $2,500,000,000 in taxes," he continued. "There is no record in history of such a shrinking from duty by a legislative body. Congress has met this war with courage and amplitude of means, but when we meet taxation we shrink from performance of our manifest duty.

"Is $2,500,000,000 in taxes the standard of patriotism that men of wealth are willing to contribute to the war. I do not believe it."

Senator Borah read statements of President Wilson, Bonar Law and Lloyd-George regarding possible inflation from large bond issues and necessity for a reasonable amount of taxes. He cited England's 80 per cent levy on war taxes after two years of war and asked:

More Fitted Than England

"Are we not better able to met an 80 per cent tax at the beginning of war than England after two years of it. On what theory can it be said that we would break down business or make the war unpopular if business makes 20 per cent more out of war than in peace? What a pity it is that dollars and cents are not flesh and blood that we might lay the conscription hand of the Government upon them and bring them to the support of the war.

"After business efficiency is protected, I would take every dollar over $10,000 of the income of every man in the United States."

The Idaho senator presented statistics regarding the amount of profits based upon last year's earnings, that big business concerns would retain even if a 60 per cent was profits rate was adopted. He said the DuPont powder interests would have $35,000,000 left over.

Senator Johnson called attention to the fact that Chairman Simmons made the statement that the profits of the Steel Corporation this year would be $490,000,000, that the tax proposed to be levied on that organization would amount to but $138,000,000.

Where Is It Going?

Senator Newlands interrupted to say that, according to Chairman Kitchen of the House ways and means committee, $23,000,000,000 are to be appropriated this year, of which seven billions are to go to the Allies and seven billion dollars are to be expended in the conduct of the war. He asked what is to be done with the remaining nine billions appropriated.

Regarding the loans that have been made to the Allies, Senator Borah declared that no living soul knows to whom that money was loaned, how it is being used or anything else about it.

A detailed statement showing the amount of appropriations already made this year by Congress, was made by Senator Smoot, replying to Senator Borah. A total appropriation of $19,005,583,107 is to be made, he said, of which seven billion will go to the Allies, thus leaving $12,005,583,107.

Senator Smoot said he believed the pending bill would raise a great deal more than $2,500,000,000, considering increased earnings this year. He compared the tax laws of England, France and Canada, declaring that England's 80 per cent war profits tax would be equalled in this country by a tax of 48 per cent, when comparative conditions are considered. Canada, he said, leives no income taxes and that her war profit tax is only 25 per cent.

Radical Vote

Senators voting for the La Follette amendment were: Ashurst, Borah, Brady, Gore, Grenna Hollis, Husting, Johnson of California, Johnson of South Dakota, Jones of Washington, Kenyon, King, Kirby, LaFollette, McKellar, McNary, Norris, Thompson, Trammell, Vardaman.

Renewing his attack on the war profits section, Senator La Follette declared the method devised by the committee for ascertaining the capital of corporations is unworkable. The placing of authority on the secretary of the treasury to ascertain the capital of corporations in contested cases, he insisted, would be tantamount to accepting the statements of the corporations unchallenged, because it would be a physical impossibility for that department to make investigations in the time this bill would be effective.

Under the substitute proposition it would be possible, he declared, for corporations, by inflation of values for trademarks, good will and other means to reduce the amount of their profits so as to lower the taxes they would be called upon to pay. He also said that the United States Steel Corporation, instead of being compelled to pay under the original bills $76,726,000 on its war profits, as has been asserted would pay, according to the committee's financial expert, only $59,304,003 under both the original bill and the substitute provision.

Dispute Over Figures

The senator aroused Chairman Simmons by declaring it was proposed to take the "lives of our boys, the hearts of our families, and all the people have got," but leave "these money-making corporations their profits, taking only 73 per cent and leaving them 28 per cent of their blood profits to add to the normal peace profits and their capital unimpaired."

Senator Simmons denied that the bill would exempt corporations' surplus from taxation and intimated that Senator La Follette was "attempting to hoodwink the Senate."

Senator Simmons later disputed Senator LaFollette's statement that the bill as recently amended would not take more taxes from the United States Steel Corporation than it would have as originally reported.

Senator Johnson interrupted to ask Chairman Simmons if the steel corporation would be compelled to pay only a tax on war profits of about $59,000,000 instead of $76,000,000 as he had declared previously. The North Carolina senator admitted that he was substantially correct.

"The statement then is unchallenged that under the committee's amendment the Steel Corporation would pay $59,000,000 in taxes and that under the original bill the computation of $76,000,000 as stated here is erroneous and the corporation would pay a like tax," said Senator Johnson. "I wanted to be sure of the fact that $76,000,000 was an error."

Saving of $17,000,000

Senator LaFollette said he believed the California senator has the wrong idea, adding that he believed the larger sum was correct, but that under the revised section the corporation would pay $59,000,000, thus saving about $17,000,000.

He also said that the amended bill would reduce the taxes of corporations and began the reading of estimates to show the amounts various corporations would pay under the provisions of the original bill and as amended. Chairman Simmons asserted that the Bethlehem Steel Company would pay $32,045,050 under the original bill, Senator LaFollette said, while the committee's financial expert estimated is at $21,885,894, but the amended bill would only levy $15,729,060.

"I maintain the form of amendment is a temptation to all corporations to swell their capitalization," the Wisconsin senator continued. "It invites over-capitalization. I want to constantly remind the senators that the government is powerless to tell what is the basis of capitalization, for there is no time in which to make an investigation."

Danger of Financing.

"Now is the time for the United States to show how this war is to be financed," Senator La Follette declared. "If the country is to escape financial ruin" adding that "from now on the demand for money with which to conduct this war will increase. Study of the financial condition of some of our Allies," he said, "has raised the doubt whether part of the money loaned them ever will be repaid.

"We are adopting a plan of financing the war that is fraught with the greatest danger to our finances and is an injustice to the people," he continued. "This tax bill is 24 per cent of the total amount that has to be raised either by bond issue or taxes if you leave out the account loaned to our Allies. If you do take that into account, it amounts to only 14 per cent. We don't know if we are going to collect from our Allies or not.

"We are starting out this war on a lower percentage of taxation than the Civil war that nearly resulted in the financial ruin of this government or the percentage during the Mexican war. I say that under the pressure of keeping down the taxes on corporations and the incomes of the rich we are being pressed back across the danger line. No government on earth can stand the strain this war makes on finance.

"Even Great Britain with all her wealth was compelled to change her financial system in order to meet the emergency," he said. "She found herself," he declared, "returning to financial ruin and even she with her towering strength was forced to throw herself on this government for financial support."

"Don't let us make the mistake, sound and rich as we are," he pleaded.

Estimating 20,000,000 families in the country, Senator La Follette said every billion dollars of war expense would mean a burden of $50 for each family head. The twenty billion dollar war estimate this year, he declared, would mean an assessment of $1,000 on each family head, $200 in cash and $800 mortgage on every home.

ILLINOIS COUNCIL MAY PROCEED AGAINST MAYOR

last night when it appeared that their services would not be needed.

Chief Schuettler today ordered that his men refuse Federalized soldiers and National guardsmen and assist them in every way possible.

"I am not going to have my men take issue with the militia or the regulars or any representative of the United States," said the chief. "Any order for the police department to engage in conflict with the soldiers will have to come from some one else."

May Picket White House

A body calling itself the American Liberty League, said to be composed of women and affiliated with the so-called People's Council, met at a hotel this forenoon, under the leadership of Miss Crystal Eastman and resolved to go to Washington to "picket" the celebration of conscription day there, September 5. The picketing, it was said, would consist in the display of banners after the fashion of the suffragists.

H. N. Merrick, head of the local branch of the National Security League, called a meeting of the league for tomorrow to take action against Mayor Thompson.

"We hope," said Mr. Merrick, "to institute through the proper channels — the city council and the state council of defense a movement which, if it does not oust the mayor from his position, will at least take the police force out of his hands. We believe that the city council has the power to do this."

Resolutions Reported

The report of the resolutions committee as given out tonight contained the following:

"The events of the last few days clearly show how far America has gone in depriving herself of democracy in order to export it abroad. The action of Governor Burnquist of Minnesota, Governor Phillipp of Wisconsin and Governor Lowden of Illinois in forbidding the peaceful and law-abiding convention of the constituent assembly of the People's Council of America for Democracy and Peace, was taken against the vigorous protest of the labor organizations in each state, who now see clearly what lies behind the attempt to stifle free assemblage; for labor is to be the next victim. The governor of North Dakota alone, like a true American, and the mayors of Minneapolis, Milwaukee and Chicago welcomed and offered to protect the conference.

"We protest against the un-American acts of these three governors as a body of two thousand delegates elected to represent more than two million of all classes, and practically every state in the union, who have gathered to express the answer of the patriotic and democratic American people to the Russian peace proposals.

Assault on Rights

"We urge the people of the United States to repudiate this violent assault on the rights of free speech and free assemblage—and, as the only effective answer, we call upon them to organize in peaceable and law abiding assemblages to adopt legal and constitutional methods to protest their rights and liberty."

The resolutions accept the President's reply to the Pope as the first clear and definite statement of the war aims of this country and conclude:

"Resolved, that, while heartily agreeing that 'Germany must be democratized,' we urge the President not to demand of the German people 'a measure of democracy' so far in excess of the measure of democracy allowed to the American people as to raise in the minds of the German people the suspicion that our insistence on their democratization is not made in good faith."

But Not Adopted

So far as could be learned the resolutions were not adopted at the formal meeting of the delegates. It was said by the leaders of the organization that much of its work, blocked by the advent of the Illinois soldiers, would be completed by mail referendum vote.

Bitter Against Germanism

PARIS, Sept. 3.—"You ask for my opinion concerning the utterances of Pope Benedict, and President Wilson," said Baron Cochin, one of the leaders of the Catholic party of France, in parliament to the Associated Press today. "It is certain that those of the Pope," he continued, "have rather the character of a protocol, while those of the President are encyclyical, but I do not see why we should oppose them to each other.

"Did the Pope speak in vain? No! Because his voice has been listened to. Did he speak inopportunely? No! The highest moral authority in the world was obliged to speak. Did he speak with partiality? One has been able to pretend so. He desires first of all to put things back where they were before 1911 and to regulate afterwards the questions raised in the Orient and in western Europe, in conformity with the wishes of the people, and in such a manner as to provoke new war. He does not forget the horrors committed, the inoffensive populations carried off into the open towns burned. He condemns these crimes. Who, then, committed them? He renders us full justice as to the honor of our armies. For the future he recommends to all, to those who attacks us as well as to ourselves, that they disarm, and we shall soon see the Germans obliged to resign themselves to that.

"The President desires to eliminate militarism. So does the Pope, but in addition Mr. Wilson desires the end of the Hohenzollern dynasty which has stupified this regime. He makes war less upon the German nation than upon its guilty head. He uses about the same language as that used by the Allies against Napoleon in 1815, after the return from Elba.

Many a Hohenzollern

"My notion is quite different. There was only one Napoleon, while there are among the Teutons of the north millions of Hohenzollerns—among the manufacturers and bankers of Prussian cities, among the legions of avid merchant, who, as the advance guard of their armies, fell upon our countries. There are among the Socialist workmen, even, and all of them are animated by the fury of domination. Literary Germany and Philosophic Germany, the Kants and the Fichtes, prepare the evolution of the state, the cult of might, with their celebrated German "die welt geschicht is the das well Gericht," (the world's history is the world's tribunal) at once explained and completed by the words 'deutscheland uber alles.' The haughty and aristocratic reform of Luther both prepared and seconded the aberration. I am and shall always remain,' said Hegel, 'a pure Lutheran.'"

STOPPED IN FIFTH.

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 3. Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion, stopped Young Reeler of Jersey City in the fifth round of a six-round match here today. Leonard overwhelmed his opponent with his speed and skill, raining punches on him from all angles. In the fifth, after Reeler had been knocked to his knees for the second time, his seconds threw up the sponge.

"Patriotism" Keynote of New Popular Music

War-Time Hits in Columbia Record List for Sept.

The spirit of a nation finds expression soonest in its popular songs, and the latest favorites of the public show the war-like trend of the nation's thought today.

Among the new popular records announced by the Columbia Graphophone Company for September is "Where Do We Go From Here?" the song that is said to be the American successor to "Tipperary." It is a typical march-song, in its spirited swing and lilt, and the merry refrain well expresses the indomitable spirit of our soldiers in France, with whom the song is a general favorite.

Other songs and music in the same patriotic vein are "Over There" and "I May Be Gone For a Long, Long Time," sung by the Peerless Quartette; two descriptive sketches by Prince's Band: "Our Boys in a U. S. Training Camp" and "The Assembly of the Allies;" and the splendid renditions of "The Star Spangled Banner," "America" and "The American Patrol" by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

CHANCES OF LIFE

Who has the better chance of life—the young man accepted for the army, or the young man rejected as unfit?

Let it be remembered that neither has any guarantee of life. Young men die, in peace as well as in war. Of 1,000 young men in their twenties, alive today, thirteen or fourteen will be dead next year, some of them by violence. Of 1,000 young men in active service in the army, about 40 will have died in a year. So the chance of the average young man at home is only about three times as good as the chance of the young man in the army. But the chances of the young men rejected for physical disability are of course not as good as the average, because they are not the average. Of the 13 or 14 deaths among 1,000 young men, nearly all would be in this half. So the chance of the young man rejected for disability is probably twice as bad as the statistical average, while the chance of the young man in active service in the trenches is three times as bad. But the young men drafted are not in the trenches yet, and will not be for some time. Their chances of life in the training camps are better than anywhere else—even better than at home. By the time they get to the trenches, there is at least an even chance that they will have less than a year to serve there. Which reduces their three-to-one handicap easily to nothing worse than two to one. And that is exactly the chance of the ones left behind for failing to pass the physical examination.

There is no weeping and wailing in the families of the rejected. Their chances of life, to be sure, are twice as bad as the average now, and probably several times the average ten or twenty years from now. But that is a familiar risk, so we take it without worrying. The thing to remember is that the chance of the boy drafted is only exactly as bad now as his rejected brothers, and is incomparably better, in the long reaches of the future. There will be as many alive of the accepted as of the rejected, a year from now, and a great many more of them, twenty years from now. The boy who doubles his risk of dying now, is quadrupling his chances of living to old age if he comes back—as 96 out of 100 of them will do.

LANGUAGE POVERTY

Ambassador Gerard quotes complimentary remarks made to him by Chancellor Von Bothmann-Hollweg, because, unlike most of his predecessors, he had learned German and studied the history and institutions of the German people. And yet Mr. Gerard also relates that on the ship, on the way to Germany, he had to get a friend to translate a speech for him into German, and managed, by dint of learning it by heart, to get it off. Now, with a better knowledge of German, he is horrified to think of the accent which he must have imposed on the hearers of that speech. From which we may judge that even Ambassador Gerard's unprecedented knowledge of German was very imperfect, and was mostly acquired after he reached Berlin.

All of which is merely a reminder of the linguistic poverty of America's foreign service, and of America's educated classes generally. Washington is full of diplomats. All of them can speak English and practically all of them can speak German and French. Berlin was fuller of diplomats than any other capital in the world. All of them except the American ambassador, have always been able to speak German and French, but Ambassador Gerard was regarded as a real exception because he knew a little German (and apparently some French) when he arrived, and learned more afterward. All the educated Germans of the classes an ambassador would meet would speak French, and could at least read and understand English. All the special embassies which have been coming to America (with the exception of the French, who are nearly as monoglottic as ourselves) have spoken English. Probably no American special embassy could speak anything but English.

There may have been some excuse for this in the past, but there is none for the future. Whether we will or not, we are now a member of the family of nations. The careers open to educated and successful men are as likely as not to take them abroad, and are certain to require them to read books and reports from other nations. We need to know other languages, and we should go about learning them.

It is easy enough—but not if we postpone all linguistic training until after entering high school, and most of it until the university. The time to begin systematic language work is in the grammar school—or earlier. Begun right, and begun early, it is not difficult for a person of fair linguistic capacity to acquire a speaking knowledge of at least two foreign languages, and a reading knowledge of several, without unduly interfering with other education. A really good linguist could graduate from college with a reading knowledge of a dozen languages, and still specialize on something else—and he would be no more extraordinary a freak, at that, than a good musician or a 'varsity-team athlete is. There should be at least as many of him, as of these.

HEARST ON MITCHEL

William R. Hearst declines to run for mayor of New York against Mayor Mitchel, preferring to support Judge Hylan, another Mitchel opponent, but he assails Mayor Mitchel by calling him an "unfitable young man, without character or principles," who "has a silly ambition for social recognition," whose election would be "an indorsement of utter incompetence and unfaithfulness in public life," and in whose administration "there have been more sordid scandals than in all the Tammany administrations since the days of Van Wyck."

A more grotesque distortion of the character and record of Mayor Mitchel could not have been invented, even for pure bugaboo. Those who know Mayor Mitchel will be at a loss to identify him as the subject of this description, even when he is named in it. If a man intensely, fightingly right, who is the real thing clear to the core, is to be described as "without character or principle," then we shall be hearing an albino described as a Negro, next. And if a man without fortune, but with tremendous earning opportunities open to him, who sacrifices them in the public service at the insistence of the best men in New York, and who lives simply and democratically in a modest apartment, is to be described as dominated by a "silly ambition for social recognition," than there is no longer any relation between facts and description. Mr. Hearst thinks Mayor Mitchel's administration a monument of "incompetence and unfaithfulness." Therefore Roosevelt thinks it the most nearly ideal since he has known New York. There have been some "sordid scandals" in the New York police, during this administration—but none which the mayor has overlooked or condoned. This is the only item in the Hearst description which is even a distortion of the truth.

This man John Purroy Mitchel will be worth watching. He is not a big man physically, and he may be too intense a man mentally. Such men sometimes burn themselves out. Also, he may retire to private life, to get rich and be forgotten. But no man who has manifested the qualities he has shown, and made the record he has made, is to be ignored in American public affairs. Those who know him—and they include the best and most public-spirited men in New York—trust him 100 per cent. He can afford to be indifferent to Mr. Hearst's expressions of contrary opinion.

CHILD LABOR LAW

Federal Judge Boyd, of the South Carolina district, has declared the federal child labor law unconstitutional, on the ground, apparently, that the federal government can not do indirectly what it would not have the right to do directly. It is conceded that the national government would have no right to pass a law against child labor. That is a power reserved to the states. But the federal government has the power to regulate interstate commerce. There are no limitations, in language, in the delegation of that power by the constitution. If the power is unlimited in fact, than it can be used to regulate almost everything else. On this principle Congress passed a law barring from interstate commerce all goods produced in whole or in part by the labor of children below certain ages, or by the labor for more than eight hours a day of young persons between certain other ages. It is, of course, plain that in such a law the regulation of commerce is a means and not an end. If these goods are to be produced, there is no commercial reason for imposing on them any regulations not also imposed on similar goods otherwise produced. The purpose is to prevent their production by child labor—which is a matter reserved by the constitution to the states. Therefore, Judge Boyd decides, the mere fact that the means of enforcing it is an interstate commerce embargo does not bring it within federal jurisdiction.

The arglument is, of course, not without force, from a strict constitution standpoint, but it is to be remembered that before the law was passed the opinion of many eminent constitutional lawyers was obtained to the contrary effect. Senator Beveridge, who first proposed the law, went into the subject very exhaustively, and was convinced of its constitutionality. We have many laws already for doing indirectly, through the interstate commerce power, what the federal government would have no authority to do directly. The federal government has no power to pass laws against adultery or prostitution. But if makes it a felony to buy a railroad ticket across the state line for these purposes. It has no right to forbid the manufacture of oleomargarine. But it does impose a prohibitive tax on the shipment of oleomargarine if colored yellow. If colored purple, the tax is only moderate. There can be no federal law requiring pork to be inspected for trichinae, but there is a law against shipping pork across the state line unless so inspected. Whether the child labor law comes within the analogy of these precedents, the Supreme Court must decide, but at least it is not to be thrown out cavalierly on the mere general principle that the federal government must not do indirectly what it can not do directly. Half our federal laws have done just that.

PLEDGES LOYALTY OF HARBOR UNIONS

BOSTON, Sept. 3—Labor's loyalty to the government in the present war crisis was pledged anew today by James Duncan, vice president of the American Federation of Labor and other speakers at a big labor rally in Boston Commons. The mass meeting took the place of Labor day parades of other years, the parade fund this year being diverted to Liberty loan bonds and war relief work.

SOWING THE SEEDS OF DEMOCRACY

[Copyright, 1917, By John T. McCutcheon.]

Fresno's Yesterdays

Taken From the Files of The FRESNO REPUBLICAN

Forty Years Ago.

The Election—The returns from the various precincts in this county show an approximate majority of 200 for Mr. Fowler for senator and 100 for Mr. Hall for sheriff, the only positions for which there was any contest. We have delayed publication for one day in hopes to give exact returns from every precinct, but they have not yet come in. The total vote last fall was 1306, of which 868 were Democratic and 538 Republican, a Democratic majority of 630. The recent vote will not exceed 900. A strenuous effort was made to make every Democrat vote a straight ticket, but the feeling against Mr. Fowler was so intense that many farmers would not obey orders. Mr. Donahoo's popularity made the contest for sheriff quite exciting. Notwithstanding the efforts of regular candidates and party leaders, the strong appeal to party prejudices and threats of excommunication a very large number of tickets were scratched. The vote is no evidence of any change of political sentiment, nor is it a fair indication of the relative strength of the two parties in this county. It does indicate, however, a want of confidence in Democratic management in this county and a dislike of "iron-clad oaths." Republicans did not all turn out, nor did they vote solidly for the few candidates that were Republicans. In this count at least, Democrats have nothing to boast of—neither in their conduct of the canvass nor in the result of the election. There is something so ludicrous about the extra issue by the "Expositor" that we publish it as a matter of curiosity.

The general result in the state may be called a Democratic victory, though in several instances Republicans have superceded Democrats in the legislature. The Democrats elect ten and the Republicans ten senators, and the Democrats elect 53 out of eighty assemblymen. Mr. Fowler is undoubtedly elected in this district, but by a very small majority. There will be at least 36 Democratic majority on joint ballot in the legislature.

FOREST FIRES KILL FISH IN MONTANA

MISSOULA, Mont., Sept. 3.—All the fish in the upper waters of Burnt Fork creek, in the Bitter Root valley, were killed by forest fires last week, according to government rangers, who inspected the devastated district today. The heat from the burning woods was so intense that hundreds of trout were cooked alive in the stream.

SOLDIERS SHOT

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 3.—Two soldiers stationed at Camp Stanley were waylaid and shot last night and both police and soldiers are searching for two negroes today. The shots took effect in the legs of the soldiers but neither was considered seriously injured. Officials believe that the attack by the negroes was the direct outcome of the trouble between several soldiers and negroes on Saturday.

HOME READING COURSE FOR CITIZEN-SOLDIERS

This course of thirty daily lessons is offered to the men selected for service in the National Army as a practical help in getting started in the right way. It is informal in tone and does not attempt to give binding rules and directions. These are contained in the various manuals and regulations of the United States Army, to which this Course is merely introductory.

LESSON NO. 19.

THE ARMY SYSTEM OF TRAINING

(Preceding lesson: 1. Your Post of Honor. 2. Making Good as a Soldier. 3. Nine Soldierly Qualities. 4. Getting Ready for Camp. 5. First Days in Camp. 6. Cleanliness in Camp. 7. Your Health. 8. Marching and Care of Feet. 9. Your Equipment and Arms. 10. Recreation in Camp. 11. Playing the Game. 12. Team Work in the Army. 13. Grouping Men Into Teams. 14. The Team Leaders. 15. Fighting Arms of the Service. 16. Staff Branches of the Service. 17. Staff Branches of the Service.—II. 18. Army insignia.)

The average American who has a job assigned to him wants to do it well. He doesn't care to dawdle over the job, and make a mess of it. Nor does he care to make it halfway success. He is determined to make it a full and complete success in the shortest possible time.

It is assumed that you are starting your army training in this American spirit. Since you are undertaking the job of becoming a citizen soldier you intend to be a good one. You don't want to waste any time in the process.

More than that, if you are ambitious and possess fair ability there is no reason why you should always remain a private soldier. It is right that you should want to advance, just as you want to advance in civil life. The army is anxious to have you advance just as soon as you are ready.

You will not, of course, become a corporal or sergeant or win higher promotion until after you have thoroughly mastered the duties of a private. Nor will all the men who would like to win advancement easily obtain it. There is only one way to get ahead in the army, and that is to follow conscientiously to the end the regular system of training laid out for everybody.

Your training will be practically the same as that through which your officers have advanced in the early stages of military training. Every man in the army must go through it.

Drill Formations.

First, you will be instructed in the infantry drill, as set forth in the Infantry Drill Regulations. This is the foundation of all your training. It is divided into close-order drill and extended-order drill.

"Close order" is defined in the Regulation as "the formation in which the units, in double rank, are arranged in line or in column with normal intervals and distances." Extended order, on the other hand, is "the formation in which the units are separated by intervals greater than in close order." These technical definitions are clear enough to those who are already familiar with military terms, but probably require some explanation for most of the men who are reading this course.

The diagrams below show at a glance what is meant. Figure 1 represents a small body of men in double rank arranged in close order.

* * * *

Figure 1.

The space between men standing side by side in rank is called the "interval." In the American army the standard interval is four inches, measured from the elbow of one man to the elbow of the man next to him. This gives room enough for free movement and the proper handling of arms and equipment during drill. The space between a man in the front rank and a man directly behind him in the rear rank is called "distance." The standard distance is forty inches, measured from the back of the man in front to the breast of the man in the rear. In practice intervals and distances are, of course, not measured exactly. A well-trained soldier, however, soon learns to gauge them with sufficient accuracy and almost unconsciously keeps himself properly placed in relation to the men about him. It is essential that every man should learn to do this in order to maintain a reasonable degree of uniformity.

Fighting Formations.

Figure 2 represents a body of men in double rank arranged in column. The same intervals and distances are observed a in the line formation.

* * * *
* * * *

Figure 2.

An extended-order formation is represented below.

Figure 3.

However, this is only one of an infinite number of extended - order formations. Intervals and distances may be irregular. This is the formation used for skirmishing and at other times when it may be desirable to have each man control his own movements without attempting to conform exactly to the movements of the other men.

During drill in close order you will retain "the position of a soldier." In extended-order drill you will usually, though not necessarily, be allowed to take the positions that are most comfortable.

You should get in mind at the very beginning these distinctions between close order and extended order. By understanding them you will see more clearly what is required of you and how you can get most benefit out of your training.—Issued by the United States War Department and all rights to reprint reserved.

EDIBLE BRITISH SEAWEEDS.

Other British seaweeds besides carrageen moss make excellent eating. Among these are laver, samphire, dulse, crings and sea holly.

Samphire used to be cried in the streets of London under the name of "great marine," but apparently present-day costermongers never sell it. Laver tastes as good as spinach, and is more nutritious. Sir James Barrie tells us how to cook dulse. In a "Window in Thrums" he writes:

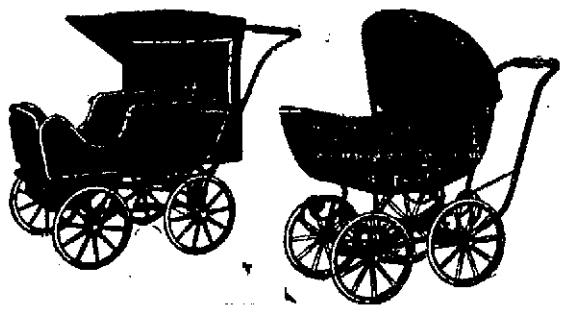

"Dulse is roasted by twisting it round the tongs when these are fired to a red heat"—a mode of cooking which gives it an oyster-like flavor. Dillisk, chopped up small and stewed in milk thickened with oatmeal, is a splendid dish.—London Chronicle.

Cuticura Heals Itching Scalp

Hair Thin and Dry. Dandruff So Bad Could Be Seen on Clothing. Hair Fell Out. Used One Cake Cuticura Soap and One Box Ointment.

"About nine months ago I had very thin, dry hair, and I had dandruff so badly it could be seen on my clothing. My scalp itched and burned and my hair kept falling out gradually until I had hardly any at all. I had to wash my hair every week. The dandruff was so bad that when I combed my hair the dandruff fell out in large flakes.

"My sister advised me to try washing my hair with Cuticura Soap and then applying Cuticura Ointment, so I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. After four months was up I was healed." (Signed) Miss M. Lenora Irish, R. 2, Box 47, Deer Park, Wash., March 30, 1917.

MEASURING YOUR PACE.

How many steps do you take to the mile? Even if your considered reply be "1,760," I shall take leave to doubt it.

Should you be a British infantryman your pace will be the longest of any infantryman.

The Rusian pace is the shortest, being 27 1-2 inches; the French, Italian and Austrian pace is 29 inches, the Germans do 30 inches, while the British soldiers stride an extra half inch.

But your own pace: what of it? It depends upon your height. Take your eyebrow height, halve it, and that represents your pace. You will find it to be something between 30 inches and 32 inches, so that you will need between 2,000 and 2,100 paces to the mile.

Merchants' Association Is Asked to Take Up the Matter in Fresno

The matter of food conservation throughout the United States is being called to the attention of the people of Fresno in overtures made to the Merchants' Association by the American Society of Refrigerating Engineers.

In a communication sent out by Secretary Ross of the engineers from the New York headquarters, addressed to Secretary H. E. Patterson of the Fresno organization, attention is called to the fact that the conservation period is fast approaching and that the cold storage interests of the country are in a position materially to assist the government in the solution of some of the vexing problems that are now confronting.

According to the engineers, each locality is a problem in itself for the meeting of which the best brains are called into requisition.

Believing that the best results along the lines to be followed are to be secured through the organization of business men cooperating with the local storage interests, the appeal is made to the Merchants' Association.

Plea of Engineers

The aims of the engineers in their endeavor to be of some assistance to the public are summed up in the following resolutions:

Whereas, The United States of America is at war with Germany and her allies; and

Whereas, Victory to the United States of America and her allies is largely dependent on the provisioning capacity of the United States of America; and

Whereas, The refrigerating and ice manufacturing industry, created and maintained by the skill and labor of refrigerating engineers is the chief exponent of the conservation and preservation of foods especially during seasons of non-production, now therefore, be it

Resolved, By The Council of the American Society of Refrigerating Engineers that every effort be made by the society and its membership to encourage the conservation of the greatest possible quantity of high food value products as can be stored for winter consumption by citizens of the United States and the provisioning of the armies and navies of the United States, France, England and their allies; and be it further

Resolved, That cold storage warehouses be urged to accept consignments of small quantities of such products for storage from the farmer and small gardener, and to extend such other encouragement to food producers as lies within their power.

COALINGA TO HAVE BIG ENTRY FOR POULTRY SHOW

More Than 100 Birds Will Be Put in Competition at District Fair

Mothers Entering Kiddies for Baby Show; Big Sheep Division

The Poultry Show at the Fresno District Fair this year will be much bigger than last year and already much interest is being created throughout central California. The usual number of prizes are being offered in this department and there will be keen competition for the awards. The department will be under the supervision of J. M. Hucock and C. G. Hines will be the judge.

The poultry association in Coalinga will hold a meeting tomorrow night and arrange to enter in the neighborhood of 100 birds at the Fresno fair, according to word that has been received from C. T. Walker of the Pleasant Valley Poultry Farms. Last year the Coalinga poultry fanciers had in the neighborhood of 50 birds in the show but this year the entry will be doubled. Entries have been mailed to all of the fanciers that were entered last year and it is anticipated that entries will start to come in tomorrow.

Entries for the Better Baby Show that will be conducted at the fair this year are now being received at the association's office in the Chamber of Commerce building. It is the aim this year to have 100 babies entered in the contest so that more attention may be paid by the physicians in charge to each tiny bit of humanity that is entered.

Division E—Sheep

"You have been here a long time, I suppose," said the pompous English traveler to an old hunter in Oregon, who had been acting as his guide.

"You bet I have," said the hunter, and then, pointing to Mount Hood, he continued: "You see that mountain there? Well, sir, when I first came to this country that mountain was a hole in the ground!"

More than ever will the above model be worn this fall and winter.

OUTLINE TONIGHT COUNTY DAY PLANS

Committees to Get Together to Arrange for All Details for Celebration

Fully 200 men are to gather this evening at the parlors of the Commercial Club of Fresno, men who constitute the committees that are to handle the details of the County day event scheduled for Zapp's Park for next Monday, September 10, Admission day.

The meeting of the committee is called for 8 o'clock, at which time each unit of the organization is to report and the final instructions given for the activities of the days set apart for the get-together emphasis.

Yesterday representatives of the San Joaquin Valley Editorial Association were taken out to the park and there made some of their arrangements for the booth that is to be theirs, in conjunction with the Lisanby Press people, who are to publish an hourly newspaper on the grounds, giving sensational accounts of the happenings of the day—for Zapp's park is to be a little world in itself on the day that is to be given to the cementing of the community ties.

Fruits for Charities

The editors here yesterday included Howard Russell of the Sanger News, Charles A. Foster of the Fowler Ensign, and Arthur K. Secord of the Parlier Progress.

Mr. Foster stated that the Fowler people, who are to close all business places for the day, propose stocking their booth with the products of their section and when the day is over and the object of the display effected, the good things of the booth are to be donated to the charitable institutions of the city and county.

MAN ARRESTED FOR GIVING MARINE BEER

Charged with giving intoxicating liquor of F. Ruttenbacher, a United States marine, P. Kristoff, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Sheriff Thorwaldson in the rear of a local saloon. Three empty pint beer bottles and one from which a small quantity of beer had been taken, were taken as evidence.

Both men say they are Austrians though born in Russia. The marine is being held as a witness against Kristoff, who probably will be taken before a United States commissioner this morning for arraignment.

Ruttenbacher was on a furlough from Mare Island and was due at the Island last night. Both are being held in the county jail.

Lillian Russell's Beauty Talks

HEALTH BY COMPULSION

(Copyright 1917, by Lillian Russell)

If this war does nothing greater than put our boys in perfect physical condition and teach them mental discipline, it will have done a work for the nation which will make for a greater and more beautiful race of men. I think, as do many thousands of mothers, that military training for boys, and even girls, should be made a law for the betterment of the race.

The greatest school we have in this country is the military academy at West Point. Every boy who graduates from that school possesses broad shoulders, a full chest, a fully developed frame and an erect and graceful carriage. They understand every instrument of defense—cannon, mortar and gun. They ride any kind of horse. They go forth as some one has happily said "Fully armed and equipped with better than shield and spear for life's great struggle, rich with the panoply of a vigorous sheathing of muscle upon a rockbike groundwork of bone, operated by unfreathing nerve and steadily beating pulse." In the other colleges and schools for our boys activity and vigor are generally supposed to be of no special utility excepting in the light work of our sporting set, who train for boat races and conventional gymnastics. There are no real colleges that send forth every boy a man but those that include military training.

The ordinary school or college make brilliant mathematicians and miserable dyspeptics, fine linguists and bronchial throats good writers and narrow chests, high foreheads and pale complexions, some smart scholars, but not that union that is necessary to a young and ambitious nation—a sound mind combined with a sound body.

In the draft it is appalling to find the number of young men under 30 who are inadequate to fulfill the requirements of their country's needs in time of necessity. As one writer says—"Oh for a touch of the Olympic games rather than this pallid effeminacy, or for the simple element of telling the truth and hurling the javelin instead of the bloodless cheeks and fleshless limbs and throbbing brains of the college graduate."

Now more than ever it needs to be rung into the ear of every educator as with the peal of a trumpet that the body cannot be neglected with impunity. That in its weakened capacities the most morbid and monstrous passions will hold their saturnalia, and that only in its vigorous exercise and expansion as well as in the development, culture and equipment of the intellect and the enriching and purifying of the heart can the world have assurance of man. Nine out of every ten of our boys should be ready to respond to the call of the nation equipped with physical strength at the age of 20. No school or college with any pretensions to be level with the spirit of the age ought to proceed upon the old and inefficient system of drugging the intellect to satiety with book learning and leaving the physical and moral powers comparatively uncared for, since only as all the capacities are harmoniously unfolded can any one of them attain its maximum of strength, usefulness and happiness.

Our enemies have proved in the world what efficiency means. Let us send all our boys to military schools for two years out of their first twenty and create a race of men that will prove themselves men in whatever capacity they may choose to select in later life.

ONE ARMY ENLISTMENT

Oliver E. Drake, Coalinga, was accepted at the local recruiting office yesterday for the quartermaster corps of the national army.

A new one man recruiting office is to be established at Coalinga under the charge of Corporal Charles J. Sitterly.

HOSPITAL SUPPLIES OF RED CROSS ON WAY TO EAST

Shipments Are Delayed By Changes Required Due to Inspection

In Red Cross Increase in Membership State in Sixth Place

Today, the women of the Military Relief Committee, Fresno Chapter Red Cross, are closing up their labors in the matter of shipment of garments, the product of the service rooms of the chapter, the hospital supplies that have engaged the consecrated workers of Fresno, since the birth of this branch of the Red Cross service.

And in this connection there has come to the surface a bit of the "trial of faith that is better than gold," that trial that while it tests the soul is said to develop the larger view and the deepening of the personal grip upon the elusive patience.

For months these good women have wrought early and late, and from time to time, by sample, their work has been pronounced as perfect by the San Francisco headquarters.

Now, when Dean MacDonald gathers his forces for the final shipments, to the end that there may be no mistake as to the coveted commendation from Washington, a Red Cross nurse is called in to pass upon the garments.

Then came the trial of faith and patience.

Change of Orders.

When the first order was given, with the official plans and specifications, for the manufacture of garments, the decree was sent forth that the regulation red cross should be sewed to the left sleeve. Since then the further order has been given that, as a matter of convenience, the little red cross must be attached to the left breast pocket.

In the inspection, it was found that some of the garments had the cross on the sleeve, and some on the pocket. As the more recent order was for the pocket the order was given that wherever the cross was placed upon the sleeve the transfer to the pocket must be effected.

So it came to pass that the change was made, the shipment was delayed and much of the work was necessarily gone over.

Then there was another bit of trouble, for the first order was for the single seam in some instances, this order later being changed so as to make the double seam imperative.

Smiling Compliance.

This change also was made, the women just doing as directed and all a-smiling as though it might be their privilege to be counted worthy to transfer crosses and to add seams where regulation said seams must be in evidence.

"It is not for us to question 'why,' just ours to do and—smile," was the only response that the publicity man could pry from the comment of these consecrated women.

Their further comment was: "We suppose the Government knows what is needed. These are military times and our present duty is to give the unquestioned obedience to every official order."

And many of these women making this reply are mothers of some of the most stalwart boys called to the service, boys who were among the first to take to the ranks or to the air or to the dividing seas.

Growth of the Red Cross.

Saturday, Mrs. Braverman, secretary of the Fresno chapter, was the recipient of an official communication giving the more recent figures on the Red Cross membership, both in state and in nation.

Increasing at the rate of from 25,000 to 100,000 a day, membership of the Red Cross has just passed the 3,500,000 mark. This is double the number of members on July, when the total was 1,808,852. At the beginning of the year, the total was 575,000.

The present membership of 3,548,289 is scattered among the 240 chapters of the American Red Cross which now are organized in all the principal cities and towns of the country. In addition there are chapters in Alaska, Porto Rico, Cuba, Philippines, Hawaii, Canal Zone, Guam, Persia, Syria and Turkey.

California Ranks Sixth.

Oklahoma leads all the states in the number of Red Cross members, according to today's figures, having 515,468 August 1. Illinois comes second with 514,108 and New York trails along with 461,237. Pennsylvania takes fourth place with 346,980, Ohio has 154,045 and California slips into the sixth position with 146,312.

The membership is divided among the several classes as follows: Patrons, 1,087; Life members, 18,216; Sustaining members, 12,141, Contributing members, 36,837; Subscribing members, 278,761; Annual members, 3,191,754.

STATE SECRETARY VISITS Y. M. TODAY

J. F. Sprunger, state secretary of the Y. M. C. A., will be in Fresno today on a visit of two days in the interest of the local branch. He will be accompanied by other officials of the association. They will consult with the directors on the future plans of the Fresno branch.

Careless Use of Soap Spoils the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

BOYS OF CLUB WANT OPPORTUNITY FOR WAR SERVICE

Work in Store During Day But Seek Red Cross Job for Night

Happy-Go-Lucky Mites in Penny-Saving Contest for Soldier Boys

Out on Tulare avenue there is a bunch of little fellows who represent an organization that has for its motto something that sounds very much like "Do something and do it now."

These boys are members of the Fish Bicycle Club of America and their vision in the matter of usefulness is just as far-reaching as is their club name.

Yesterday, two of these little club men came into the Red Cross service room, where, despite it being a holiday, the women were busy with the shipment of supplies. The boys were looking for a job for a part with the grown-ups in the volunteer work for the soldier boys.

Nor were they particular as to just what a light he the nature of the work given them. They just wanted to "do something."

After being put to work it was discovered that they had something on their minds and here it is, just as one of the boys put it:

No Place For Slackers

"We got a club out on our street, a lively set of fellows who just want to be a-doin' things. Three of us, all officers of the club, started for this place to help a little, but one of us got cold feet. He's just a slacker. You wouldn't want a slacker here, anyhow, would you—he's just a slacker, he is."

And they felt better.

The boys remaining at the service rooms were Leo Rahill, president, and Lewis E. Griffin, secretary-treasurer of this "bicycle club of America."

But there is more to this tender of services than at first appears on the surface. These little fellows are employed each day in one of the stores, so are confined to their business duties until 5 p. m.

This fact, however, is no bar to their having a part in the Red Cross work. Their idea is that they may be given something worth while to do after hours—after they have finished their work for the day.

Still Another Club

Mrs. Braverman reports still another organization of children that has for its object the rendering of assistance to the soldier boys, through the Red Cross channels.

This second combine is designated as the Happy-Go-Lucky Club, and with each gathering of the club, the members are obligated to bring a penny to be added to the Fresno Red Cross chapter treasury.

In this way, already quite a fund has been created and turned in. The children reporting Saturday last were: Margaret Gray, Leitonia Gray, Aileen Adams, Edyth Graves, Allen Gray and one "Little Red Cross Boy" who was too modest to allow his name to be made public.

RED CROSS BOYS IN HUNDRED DOLLAR CLASS NOW

With Two Weeks Canvass Splendid Fund Is Raised in Old Paper Sales

Addresses of Collectors Are Given in Hope of Simplifying Work

Yesterday Thomas G. Kerr, manager of the California Paper and Board Mills, handed Miss Breeze Huffman a check for $42.85—the result of the week of canvass just closed by the Old Newspaper Red Cross Scouts, now engaged in the creation of a fund that is to add many material comforts to the soldier boys called to the foreign and home service.

This means that since the beginning of the work undertaken by the scouts two weeks ago the boys have been able to add to the Fresno Chapter Red Cross treasury the splendid total of $83.35.

And the check next week is to be of larger proportions, for the boys have in reserve hundreds of pounds of material ready for the call of the trucks.

Phone Calls Numerous.

The boys are also more hopeful for the week because of the increasing co-operation of the householders throughout the city. From all points those friendly to the cause and to the earnest little fellows working so strenuously in the collection of old papers are phoning their tenders to Miss Huffman, 1685-W, so that the work for the present is but in the nature of collection, the solicitation feature being thus eliminated.

Change of Plan.

These phone calls, however, have become so numerous, the plan for the week is to be slightly changed, the phones and addresses of the boys being given, in the belief that there are those who would prefer favoring the individual boy, thus helping him to raise his record in the contest for first honors.

So the order is that those who desire to do so may phone Miss Huffman, who now has the active co-operation of Mrs. H. E. Patterson in the bearing of the burdens imposed in the old paper canvass, or the phone of some of the boys may be used in making the offer for collection. Where there is no phone the address of the boy is given, so that those who desire to do so may deliver direct to the home of the boy.

Here They Are.

The phone and the addresses follow:

GIVE HOME GUARD OFFICIAL STAMP OF APPROVAL

Four Companies Are to Be Authorized for Fresno Men

Drills Begin Tonight at Armory With Spanish Veteran in Charge

A Home Guard is at last on the way to become an officially accomplished fact. As a result of the representations of a number of prominent citizens to the adjutant-general in Sacramento, authority has been granted in Fresno to furm four companies of at least forty men to the company. The organizers are Spanish war veterans, and the start has been made by H. A. Sessions.

The application for authority was sent officially to Adjutant-General Borree at Sacramento, and his official reply granting permission has just been received by Sessions. Already quite a number of prominent men have signed up. The qualifications are that a man must be between the ages of 18 and 60 years, be in good health and bear a good character.

Following are the names of those who have already signed up:

Herbert A. Sessions, Edward B. Russell, George G. Graham, Fred A. Smith, William Glass, L. H. Corse, Jr., M. B. Haynes, George A. Robbins, Walter A. Bonnett, E. A. Von Hagsicker, John W. Cappleman, Charles M. Hills, Hayden Jones, Melbourne C. Routt and B. U. Brandt.

The official organizers appointed are: S. L. Gallaher, C. W. Kepley, E. L. Freeman and H. A. Sessions. Persons wishing to join any of the four companies may make their applications to any one of the four organizers at the armory.

Drill nights are as follows: Tuesday at the armory with Freeman as drillmaster; Wednesday, Gallaher drillmaster; Thursday, Kepley drillmaster, and Friday with Sessions as the officer in charge.

Those desiring to take part in the drill may attend on any night and join with the members of any company.

Members of the Home Guard have to make the following sworn obligations:

"I do hereby acknowledge to have this day voluntarily enlisted as a member in the Home Guard of ——, California.

"I do hereby enlist to serve within the limits of the State of California in any active military capacity that may be required or ordered of me by the Governor of the State of California for the period of time (unless sooner discharged by proper authority) during which the United States may be at war; provided, however, that this enlistment shall in no way interfere with or hamper my enlistment or service with any department or employment in or with the Federal or State government.

"I do solemnly swear that I will support the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State of California and will obey and maintain all laws and all officers employed in administering the same.

"I do further swear that my enrollment properly sets forth my legal name, age and address, the same having been herein written by me, with full knowledge and understanding of the obligation assumed by this action.

"This oath is subscribed to with the understanding that membership in this organization shall in no way exempt me, or act as cause for exemption, should my services be required in the military service of the United States."

TO FORM KNITTING CLASS THIS AFTERNOON

Another of the Red Cross knitting classes is to be formed today, the assembling of women armed with needles being set for the home of Mrs. W. S. Johnson, 3767 Illinois avenue, at 1:30 p. m.

Request is made that all who are interested and conveniently located will meet with the women for the formation of this unit which is to endeavor to add to the supplies intended to give comfort to the men in service during the coming colder months.

For the day, Mrs. R. A. Gracey is to direct and instruct where instruction is needed.

FRESNAN IS WOUNDED FIGHTING IN FRANCE

OTTAWA, Sept. 3.—In the Canadian casualty list issued today, A. G. McKewan, Fresno, is listed among the wounded.

McKewan has three sisters living in Fresno county—Mrs. Kenneth Dawson, who lives on the San Joaquin river, Miss Annie McKewan, who lives with Mrs. Dawson, and Mrs. Olive Hardcastle, who lives at 2914 Harvey avenue.

On Friday last Mrs. Dawson received a telegram informing her that McKewan had been wounded in the back, and is now in Letreport hospital.

MRS. WYATT FUNERAL TODAY

Attended only by the family and a few close friends, the funeral of Mrs. Ched Sample Wyatt will be held this morning from the First Presbyterian church at 10 o'clock. The Rev. Dr. George F. Sevier will conduct the services. Mrs. Wyatt died at the Sample Sanitarium, Sunday, after an illness of a few days. The funeral will be private.

OPPOSE IMPORT OF ORIENTALS

SALT LAKE, Sept. 3.—Officials of the Utah Federation of Labor announced today that they would fight the proposal of the Manufacturers' Association of Utah which seeks to impose Asiatic labor into the state.

They state that the attitude of the manufacturers was at variance with general sentiment and that California and other states would not consider the proposal of suspending the Mongolian race exclusion act.

Listening to the Duo Art Piano is listening to the masters themselves

Insert in the Duo-Art Piano a roll of Gabrilowitsch, Bauer, Ganz, Busoni Grainger or any of the score of great pianists. Close your eyes if you will—and you listen to that great artist himself—his playing is reproduced with absolute fidelity.

The Duo-Art Music roll was made direct from the hand playing of the artist—not only made, but first listened to by him and then personally edited and corrected by him, so that the Duo-Art rendition is even more perfect than in concert. Just think of being able to listen to the masters themselves play in your own home.

And yet the Duo-Art Piano is a "regular" Piano to be played by hand—it is also a Player Piano which you can play (without pedaling—it is operated electrically) according to your own ideas of expression.

We will gladly demonstrate to you this wonderful instrument.

CITY WILL CALL MORE DRAFT MEN

Third Call Necessary in Order to Secure 10 Per Cent Reserve

From present indications it is now evident that Fresno will get its first quota of 152 men from the 804 men summoned and examined but it is certain that between 100 and 200 more men will be called in order to make up the additional 10 per cent that must be held in reserve. The reserve will be used to take the places of the men that are disqualified after reaching Camp Lewis. Then the new men that have been examined will be used to make up the first part of the second draft army. The city has sufficient men to meet the first demands made by the national army officers and it may be from one to two weeks before the 100 to 200 men are summoned for examination.

County Division No. 1 has selected the 5 per cent of the first quota of Division No. 2 has received the following volunteers:

FOOD CAMPAIGN REDUCES GARBAGE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Practical results of the food conservation campaign are shown in the garbage reports for July from 59 cities compiled today by the food administration.

San Diego, Cal., heads the lists with a garbage collection only 43 per cent of that for July a year ago. Among other cities showing a decrease of 25 per cent or more are Portland, Ore., Lincoln, Neb., and Davenport, Ia.

California Oil

SANTA FE BRINGS IN SIX PRODUCERS

Adds Materially to Its Output in Midway; Oil Notes of McKittrick

McKITTRICK, Sept. 3.—The Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company (Santa Fe), made six additions to its list of producing wells in the Midway field during July, although the output was on a small scale in each case, the largest production being 50 barrels, and the smallest 25 barrels. Of the five wells drilled by the Southern Pacific the deepest one had a depth of more than 2800 feet and the initial yield was 100 barrels, while the biggest producer, at 2600 feet, gave 440 barrels. The rest ranged from 100 barrels to 375 barrels.

The Standard Oil Company brought in one new well, with 40 barrels, the drill reaching 3200 feet. Five other wells, which were deeper, the depths varying from 2400 feet to 3200 feet, had an output of from 15 barrels to 60 barrels.

Tests of water shut-off are in progress at wells on various properties. The Standard Oil Company is making a test at No. 2, in section 23, 29-21 in the McKittrick field; the Marina Oil Company at No. 50, in section 3, 29-21, Belridge district; the Potter Oil Company, at No 27, in section 15, 31-22, North Midway field; the Southern Pacific Company, at No. 4, in section 11, 30-21, McKittrick field; the Standard Oil Company, at 58, in section 36, 31-23, Midway district, and the Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company, at four wells in the Midway.

Installation of the jack system on the Shamrock lease of the Associated Oil Company, in the McKittrick field, has been completed, 15 wells being connected. The Shamrock is noted locally for the production of the lightest quality of petroleum found in this district. One well, No. 3, brought in some years ago, flowed at the rate of around 1200 barrels per day for a year or more, and is still giving a good account of itself. The other wells are likewise making a good record.

PETROLEUM MARKET SHOWS NO CHANGES

General Undertone Strong With Market Awaiting Washington Action

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3.—There is no notable change in the petroleum situation for the past week. Crude prices were on an unaltered basis, with no determining variation in the field situation. The heavy demand on the part of automobiles for gasoline and the assurance by the government of as much if not more needed for the operation of coast defense operations, airplane fleet and motor trucks in army service, necessitate the safeguarding of heavy supplies of fuel for emergency purposes. This involves the industry in a responsibility that will not be fulfilled unless the problem of early production expansion is assured of early solution.

The usual economic spur of high record crude prices must be supplemented with the most immediate possible relief from the drilling supply stringency, to the cause of which the government has recently pledged its earnest support.

It is learned from Washington that the government has not committed itself to any material quantity of gasoline for future use, but it is understood that the terms upon which it will take the refined product had been settled several weeks ago.

ST. HELENS COMPANY TO EXPAND ITS WORK

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3.—The St. Helens Petroleum Company, Ltd., with holdings in the Fullerton, Santa Maria and Midway fields, is about to enter the Ventura field and has leased a ranch of several acres lying fifteen miles east of the city of Ventura. Work has started on the first of a series of wells, a portable rig being used. It is near the Camarillo ranch, where some shallow wells were put down some years ago. These wells also are being cleaned out by Los Angeles people with a view to again putting them on production.

EXTRACTS OIL FROM SHALE BY DISCOVERY

CARSON CITY, Nevada, Sept. 3.—The discovery of a new process for extracting oil from shale has won a pardon for A. H. Crane, who was serving a term in the state prison for burglary. Crane devoted all his spare time to chemistry and recently announced that he had found a process by which oil could be extracted from shale at small cost. The warden of the prison called his process to the attention of the Government, which sent an expert to investigate it.

Crane was granted a pardon by the parole board yesterday in order that he may perfect his process and superintend the erection of an extraction plant. The Federal expert informed the parole board that Crane's method of extracting oil from shale will be of almost incalculable value to the Government.

COMPARISON IS MADE OF COST OF DRILLING

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—The cost of labor and material in the oil industry have been discussed by men prominent in the production of oil, and these discussions are expected to carry some weight with the Federal Trade Commission in its forthcoming report on production costs. E. B. Carson, president of the Petroleum Company of the same name writes on the subject in a current issue of the Wall Street Journal:

"Since the United States declared war, the oil industry has not advanced prices to the mass of consumers and will not do so except under stress of necessity. Those who attack the oil industry might study a few facts of the case. The only advances that have been made have been in the production end. Crude oil had to go up (the big refiners do not own the oil Wells) and I cite the following advances in costs of materials and labor during the twelve months ending June 1, since which there have been others:

	June 1 1917.	June 1, 1916.	Per. Incr'se.
Price of Engines	$427.00	345.00	23.76
Boilers	950.00	540.00	75.92
Pipe (6in. pr ft.).	2.52	1.26	100.00
Labor—
(a) Drillers (per day)	9.00	6.00	50.00
(b) Pumpers (per month)	115.00	95.00	20.00
(c) Roustabouts (per month)	100.00	85.00	15.00
Crude oil (per bbl.)	1.70	1.55	9.68

"The oil industry does not control these prices, nor can it dictate at all regarding them.

"I feel confident that when this war is over and the records of earnings of various large corporations throughout the country are checked up it will be found that the oil industry made a smaller margin of profit after the declaration of war by the United States than any other industry of like size."

RESULT OF PROBE IS AWAITED BY OIL MEN

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—The investigation by the Federal Trade Commission into the cost of producing crude oil in order to adopt a price for the commodity similar to the action of the government with regard to coal is now the principal factor in the petroleum situation.

Press reports from Eastern fields indicate that producers and refiners regard the probability of Government regulation with as much concern as they do the threatened shortage of oil field equipment, and spokesmen for big oil interests admit they are all at sea as to what course the Government will take after the Trade Commission has submitted its report.

In recent declines this uncertainty is reflected on the New York stock market, and has destroyed the optimism which has permeated both the eastern and mid-continent fields.

There is less uneasiness among California operators than has been caused in the East by the Trade Commission's probe of the industry. In fact, the general feeling among California producers is decidedly optimistic in this respect, for they say that the Government is interested more in the vital necessity of stimulating production than in anything else, and an enforced reduction in prices would, with the cost of materials steadily rising, have the opposite effect.

WYOMING OUTPUT WAS HEAVY DURING 1916

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—The recent interest in development work in the various fields in Wyoming is explained by recent government reports, which show a heavy production for the state during 1916, which exceeded the output of the previous year by nearly 2,000,000 barrels.

Crude petroleum marketed from the oil districts of the state last year totalled 6,234,000 barrels, according to the report of the United States Geological Survey. The output was distributed by months as follows:

January, 347,145; February, 235,341; March, 492,720; April, 477,044; May, 505,126; June, 530,221; July, 524,626; August, 627,705; September, 538,152; October, 617,220; November, 594,066; December, 630,334; total, 6,234,157.

The average price received for the oil at the wells was 90.5 cents a barrel, and the total market value was $5,644,080, a gain of 38 cents in average unit price and $3,427,062, or 154 per cent in total market value over 1915.

Aside from the general increase in the production of crude oil, which was in direct response to increased refining facilities provided by enlargements of plant capacity at Casper and the installation by the Greybull Refining company of a plant at Greybull, the principal feature of the petroleum industry in Wyoming in 1916 was the discovery of the Big Muddy field in Western Converse county, about fifteen miles due east of Casper. The first successful well was drilled by the Merrill Oil and Gas company. It was brought in as a twenty-barrel well on June 13 and derived its production from the Shannon sand, reached at a depth of 947 feet. A well on section 10 of township 33, completed in November, demonstrated the presence and oil productivity of the deep-lying Wall creek sand, the principal source of oil in the Salt creek field, in Natrona county. Before the end of 1916 a number of successful wells had been completed in the Shannon sand and several others started in quest of the more prolific but deeper Wall creek sand.

In the fields discovered prior to 1916 the most significant development of the year was in the Salt Creek district, where a well, completed in August by the New York Oil company, demonstrated the existence of a prolific "pay sand" at a depth of about 1,900 feet below the Wall creek sand, the principal source of former production.

CASMALIA WELLS ARE GIVING GOOD OUTPUT

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 3.—Recent wells brought in through development of the Casmalia field are bringing good results. The chief operators in the field are the Doheny-Pacific and the Associated. The output of the Doheny wells are now about 5,000 barrels per day. The last well, the No. 9, is flowing at an average of 400 barrels per day. It was completrd at a depth of 1,600 feet. The gravity of the oil is heavy.

The Doheny-Pacific wells are not operating at full capacity, the production being held down pending the completion of the Associated's eight-inch pipe-line, which is an extension of the line connecting Gaviota with the Santa Maria and Cat Canyon fields. When the line is in operation, the Associated will be moving 7,000 barrels or more out of the Casmalia field daily. The oil now being moved from the field is pumped about a mile to the railroad station, whence it is shipped in tank cars. Owing to the heavy gravity of the oil, it is necessary to mix it with distillate in order to pump it.

ESCAPED CAPTIVE TELLS OF GERMANY

People Begin to Feel Effect of World Reprobation

PARIS, Sept. 3.—President Wilson's note being virtually addressed to the German people, there is more than usual interest in the latest account of the German people's conditions and feelings as related by an army nurse named De-Winne, a Belgian, who has just returned after thirty-four months of captivity in Germany. As a nurse he enjoyed special favor and visited Munster, Soltau, Hanover, Gottingen, Dusseldorf, Cologne, Aix La Chapelle and Karlsruhe. With regard to the spirit of the Germans, he said:

"The Germans believe hard as iron that Germany was attacked and is only defending her existence. Not only do the people repeat this, but intellectuals, doctors and officers with whom I talked, are so convinced of this that they are ready to make the greatest sacrifices."

"'Why did not your country let us pass through?' asked one doctor. 'Then you would not have been a prisoner and your country would have escaped the horrors of war.'

"'We wished to keep our given word,' I answered. 'We defended ourselves when attacked.'

"'But your country was conniving with England and France,' he retorted.

Beginning to Doubt.

"No one wonders when some particle of truth will penetrate minds so obstinately closed. I have never met a German who was not convinced of German victory, but many note with fright that the blockade and economic situation are ever postponing peace. This has made them conciliatory.

"The English are detested; the French are admired for their courage; the Russians are despised as savages. As for the Americans, the German maintain they will be no help to the Allies from a military point of view, but they are more and more terrified at the universal reprobation they feel is rising against Germany. The working classes rail against the military classes, the Prussians and the crown prince, but believe that the emperor desires the end of the war by a peace of conciliation, but is thwarted by the crown prince and military leaders."

When asked if a revolution is possible, he replied:

"I dare not say, but I can say that in no town I visited have I discovered revolutionary symptoms."

95 COMPLAINTS TO RELIEF COMMISSION

Most of Them Adjusted Satisfactorily by Local Office

Ninety-five complaints were entered at the Fresno relief commission office for the month of August. Among the causes for complaint were: Non-payment of wages, unsanitary labor camps, employment agency fraud, overcharge, violation of the semi-monthly pay-day law and of the eight-hour law, industrial accidents, breach of laboring contracts, issuing checks without funds and various kinds of misrepresentation. Most of the complaints were adjusted in a satisfactory manner by the co-operation of the officials.

T. J. Cunningham of the state immigration commission has opened offices with E. A. von Allmen, secretary of the Fresno relief commission, 121 Edgerly building. He will attend here on Wednesday, and thereafter will be at the office on Monday.

COUNTY'S EXHIBIT GOES TO CAPITAL

Commerce Chamber Secretary and His Forces off for Installation

Yesterday the chamber of commerce exhibit rooms at the building in H street were stripped of the features that are essential to the showing that is to be made at Sacramento for the State fair, and shipped to the Capitol city.

This means that the greater portion of the products of the county that are to enter into the display that is to be made by the chamber of commerce are either on their way, contracted for or are being held in cold storage in the exhibit city.

Last evening Secretary Wm. Robertson and his staff left by auto for that point, there to remain until the close of the fair.

According to Mr. Robertson, while the showing to be made this year may not be as elaborate as have been some of the former events, the exhibit as a whole, along effective and artistic lines, is scheduled as something that is calculated to draw loyalty to the section represented.

AT THE THEATERS

STIFF FIGHTING IN "SQUAW MAN'S SON"

Belasco Comedy With Original Cast at White Theater Tonight

SPLENDID CAST IN "SQUAW MAN'S SON"

When Lasky produced "The Squaw Man" from Edward Milton Royle's famous novel, it was felt that a sequel to the play was decidedly in order. Hence "The Squaw Man's Son," which has been specially filmatized for Lasky at the Kinema.

Wallace Reid, Anita King and Raymond Hatton in Splendid Lasky Cast Again

As usual with Lasky, the spectator gets a splendid cast of men and women to portray their roles. Wally Reid is the Englishman with Indian blood who feels the call of the wild and accepts the call. Anita King is Wah-Na-Gi, and plays up to her character part with the keenest sense of understanding. It is, perhaps, the best work she has done.

Stiff Fighting and Encounters in the Wild Western Country

The play is, of course, outdoors. The tang and zest of the west predominates, while the surging theme presents occasions for physical courage. It's the fist, and feet-on-the-trigger that wins out in "The Squaw Man's Son."

Fatty Arbuckle Tomorrow in His Latest Comedy

Tomorrow brings back the heavyweight and champion laugh-maker, Fatty has a new play called "His Wedding Night," although most of the action takes place behind a soda water fountain with Fatty as a dare-devil Romeo fighting hard—with Beans St. John to win the girl from the villain.

Doug Fairbanks arrives Friday with a bag full of laughs and troubles.

LIGHT COMEDY AT WHITE TONIGHT

In "The Boomerang," the Winchell Smith and Victor Mapes comedy, which is announced for the White theater for one performance, tonight, Tuesday evening, September 4, David Belasco assures local theater-goers a feast of fine acting such as this city is rarely privileged to enjoy. The same splendid cast which helped make this comedy the biggest dramatic hit of two New York seasons, as well as the past season in Chicago, will be brought intact to Fresno. It includes such well known and leading players as Arthur Byron, Martha Hedman, Wallace Eddinger, Ruth Shepley, Gilbert Douglas, Kathryn Keys, Marguerite Chaffee, Dorothy Megrew and many others.

"The Boomerang" is said to be light comedy of the highest order, and has to do with a physician who is called in to cure a simple case of love and jealousy. With clever lines and a fine discrimination that Mr. Belasco employs in the production, it is reported that no cleaner, brighter or more entertaining comedy has been produced on the American stage in recent years. It is the only company that is appearing in this play, and comes direct to Fresno upon the conclusion of its four weeks engagement at the Columbia theater San Francisco.

GASOLINE OR WHISKY?

Charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated, M. E. Wright, was yesterday arrested by Officers Capin and Davis after he had run a touring car into a ditch at Merced and G streets and wrecked the car.

KOLB & DILL THEMSELVES COMING

With "The High Cost of Loving" as their vehicle, California's two most popular dialect comedians, Kolb & Dill, are to play at the White theater for two nights, beginning Saturday, September 8, after a record-breaking run in San Francisco. The famous Dutch dialecticians celebrated their return to the spoken stage after two years before the motion picture cameras with 120 consecutive performances of the play in which they are now appearing, any which metropolitan critics maintained to be the funniest show ever produced to the long and short fun manufacturers.

From the first to the last curtain, "The High Cost of Living" abounds in just the right sort of lines and situations to give the two stars their best chance for merry-making, and they sparkle on their way through the three side-splitting acts in a manner that has kept San Francisco audiences rocking with laughter during the full ten weeks of their run there.

How to Keep Well; Talks on Health

By DR. W. A. EVANS
Professor of Hygiene in Northwestern University and Former Health Commissioner of Chicago

HYGIENE AND THE BIBLE.

In the deliverance of the people of Israel from Pharaoh, one was made of some bad and some good hygiene. Exodus VII. reads in part: "And all the waters that were in the river were turned to blood and the fish that were in the river died, and the river stank and the Egyptians could not drink of the water of the river."

"Seven days later (Chapter VIII.) and Aaron stretched forth his hand over the waters of Egypt and the frogs came up and covered the land of Egypt * * * and the frogs died out of the houses, out of the villages, and out of the fields. And they gathered them together in heaps; and the land stank."

"Within a few days there came a visitation of lice. * * * for Aaron stretched out his hand with his rod and smote the dust of the earth and it became lice in man and in beast; all the dust of the land became lice throughout all the land of Egypt."

"A few days later * * * and there came a grievous swarm of flies into the house of Pharaoh and into his servants' house and into all the land of Egypt; the land was corrupted by reason of the swarm of flies."

Something less than a week later there followed the next step. Chapter IX: "And the Lord did that thing on the morrow and all the cattle of Egypt died; but of the cattle of the children of Israel died not one."

A few days later came the next step. * * * "And it becameth a boil breaking forth with blains upon man and beast."

In the series of plagues up to this point there is evidence of a natural sequence. At this point there is a break. "So there was hail, and fire mingled with hail very grevious, such as there was none like it in all the land of Egypt since it became a nation. And the hail smote throughout all the land of Egypt all that was in the field, both man and beast; and the hail smote every herb of the field and brake every tree of the field. And the flax and the barley was smitten; for the barley was in the ear and the flax was bolled. But the wheat and the rye were not smitten, for they were not grown up."

Pharaoh still proving obdurate (chapter X): "And Moses stretched forth his rod over the land of Egypt, and the Lord brought an east wind upon the land all that day and all that night, and when it was morning the east wind brought the locusts and the locusts covered the face of the whole earth, so that the land was darkened; and they did eat every herb of the land and all the fruit of the trees which the hail had left, and there remained not any green thing in the trees or in the herbs of the field throughout all the land of Egypt."

Next: "And there was a thick darkness in all the land of Egypt for three days."

And finally: "The Lord smote all the first born in the land of Egypt from the first born of Pharaoh that sat on the throne unto the first born of the captive in the dungeon * * * for there was not a house where there was not dead."

Why Kick on Weight

Reader writes: "I notice that you classify a man 5 feet 4 inches tall weighing 115 pounds as a bantam-weight. What would you classify me as? I weigh 117 pounds and stand 5 feet nine inches in my clothes and am in good health. Can you beat it?"

REPLY.

Why complain? If you weighed 200 you would be no good this hot weather, and your chances of dying young would be increased greatly.

Somnambulist

Mrs. J. G. writes: "I have a son, 5 years old, who gets up at night in his sleep, unlocks the door, walks out around the yard and then back to bed without waking. He does this every night for weeks; then again, nights pass without his getting up. He does not wake when talked to, but neither does he remember about it the next morning. He sleeps in ventilated room, has an early light supper, and retires at 8.

"He does this only during the hot summer months. This is the second summer.

"He is very bright and healthy.

"What is your advice?"

REPLY.

Your boy is a somnambulist. Cure of this condition is a matter of mental training. The psycho-analysis say that sleep-walking is a result of mental repressions. If you could place him in the right sanitarium under the direction and control of a brain specialist he could be trained out of the habit. A sanitarium for the insane or one for the sick is not the place for him. Since you are near Omaha, I suggest that you see a nerve specialist in that city.

Obesity and Worms

C. D. T. writes: I am interested in reducing. I am 35, mother of four children, ranging from 4 to 11 years of age, am 4 feet 11½, weight 150 pounds. I am fat and getting fatter. At 25 I weighed 125 pounds. I do all my housework, including the laundry. Do my own sewing, mopping, scrubbing, sweeping. Have a large garden which I work myself, supplying all vegetables for our table. Also tend a flower garden. I live simply. For breakfast I eat one egg, two slices of buttered bread, fruit, two cups of coffee with cream, but no sugar. For dinner, vegetables, meat, fruit, sometimes pie, pudding, or cake. What is left from dinner I eat at supper. I am not a big eater. How can I reduce?

2. My daughter, 10 years of age, had measles three years ago. At that time they lanced an abscess in her pleural cavity. She was sick and bones for a year. Since then she has been well except that about once a month she blisters in the lower part of the bowels. I give her worm medicine and she passes a lot of small worms, and she gets relief, but shortly she needs medicine again. I have given her three or four bottles. They are little, hard, white worms, about 1 inch long and with a hard point at the tail. What can I do?

REPLY.

1. However little you eat, you eat too much for you. Otherwise you would not be getting fat. You give in detail how much you eat at breakfast, but at that point you lose your fondness for figures. You do not say how much meat, bread, and vegetables you eat for dinner. Working as hard as you do, moderately severe dieting should cause you to lose weight. Cut out all pies, puddings, cakes, desserts, and sweets of every kind. Bread is probably your worst menace. Two slices a day should be your limit. One or two potatoes a week are enough for you. Eat freely of meat, watery vegetables, and watery fruits.

2. I judge your child has pin worms. Pin worms live in the large intestines and worm medicines given by the mouth seldom remove all of them. Any females or eggs left behind will develop into a new crop of worms in about two weeks.

Give a dose of quassia worm medicine by the mouth. Follow with a cathartic. The next morning clean the lower bowel by an ordinary enema. Then inject a decoction of quassia made as follows: Two ounces of quassia powder or chips are boiled in a pint of water. When this has cooled it is ready for use. Inject the pint of decoction, leave in fifteen minutes, and then wash out with an ordinary enema. Repeat in three weeks if necessary.

MENNONITES GRANT VOTES FOR WOMEN

Advance Step Is Taken by Conference at Reedley; Present Cantata

REEDLEY, Sept. 3.—Delegates from five more congregations [illegible] their presence on the meeting at the general conference of the Mennonite church.

The Reedley [illegible] expressed their appreciation of the presence of the conference by [illegible] it among them and asked it for a message to the churches on next Sunday morning.

The great cause of woman's suffrage received a splendid recognition in the decision of the conference today that the woman missionary as well as the man missionary should have a vote. This is the first time in the history of the Mennonite church that such a privilege has been granted.

Day of Worship

Sunday was a time of day of worship for delegates and visitors at the conference.

The regular routine of the conference was suspended in order to make it pre-eminently a day of worship. The attendance at the meetings was the largest so far recorded, as many of the visitors from this and neighboring communities who during the past week had been busy taking care of the enormous peach crop of Fresno county, came in to enjoy the blessings of the conference with the delegates. In order to provide for the large crowds of people which even the spacious halls of the church could not accommodate, overflow meetings were arranged at the Mennonite, Brethren and the Baptist churches of Reedley.

At the Mennonite church the services of the day began with an earnest appeal for systematic and proportionate giving by Dr. S. S. Havry of Upland.

The keynote of the day was struck by Rev. P. R. Aeschliman of Colfax, Wash., in an impressive sermon on the theme "Sound Doctrine," in which he emphasized the statement that world conditions in church and state today imperatively demand sound doctrine as much as in apostolic times. It is the business of the church, he contended, to supply this need.

This was very appropriately followed by a sermon on the text "Jesus Only," by Rev. W. S. Gottschall of Bluffton, Ohio.

In the afternoon Pastor Dackman of Brooklyn, N. Y., presented the claims of the Jewish mission to the assembly in an affective manner, and Rev. Victor Boyer, Allentown, Pa., favored the audience with a character study of an Old Testament missionary based upon the book of Jonah.

Present "The Holy City"

The climax of the day was reached in the evening when the choir of the Mennonite church, with the assistance of other talent, presented the beautiful cantata of the English composer, A. R. Gaul, entitled "The Holy City." Long before the appointed time every seat in the house was occupied, and standing room was at a premium. At 7:30 the choir leader, C. F. Miller, took the baton and in a quiet manner, quite in harmony with the spirit of the conference, directed the choir in the rendition of the melodious strains of the cantata. He was assisted by Prof. M. T. Garland at the organ and Miss Emma Ruth presided at the piano. The soloists, Miss Ruth Krehbiel, soprano; Miss Maud Howell, alto; H. Dalke, tenor, and C. O. Lehman, baritone, of Berne, Ind., contributed much to the success of the rendition. The solo parts were much appreciated by the hearers. Among the most successful numbers were the soprano air, "My soul is athirst for God," the tenor solo, "For like as a father," and the choruses, "For thee, O dear, dear country," and "Thine is the Kingdom." Many requests for a second rendition of the cantata were made and it will doubtless be repeated.

IS GIVEN COMMISSION AS OFFICER IN ARMY

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 3.—George W. Cochnower, for the past two years in the restaurant business here, has just received his commission as captain in the officers' reserve. Captain Cochnower, who served through the Philippine insurrection, was an officer in the First Illinois cavalry, a crack command. He applied for his commission shortly after the declaration of war on Germany.

He left here today to visit his mother in St. Louis. His orders are to hold himself in readiness for a call to service at any time.

Deer Hunters Shoot Three Does Equipped With Pairs of Horns

VISALIA, Sept. 3.—Does with horns are seemingly becoming more numerous in the mountains about Mineral King and hunters are trying to solve the mystery. A couple of years ago a doe with horns was shot above Mineral King by a Visalian, who naturally presumed he was shooting at a buck and for a long time he was looked upon as a doubtful hunter. This year, however, three such cases have been reported, and there seems no longer to be any reason to doubt the existence of these freaks.

URGE HOLDING FRUIT FOR FULL MATURITY

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 3.—Orange growers are being urged by the packers to hold their fruit this fall until it reaches a complete state of maturity and thus realize the full value of oranges of the highest grade.

Late official reports from Butte county are that the orange crop of that district will not be more 25 per cent of normal, which will remove from competition with the Central California product its chief early competitor. By the time the Tulare county oranges are ready to market, it is declared that the late Valencias will also have been cleaned up.

Estimates current at the present time place the probable Tulare county output of fruit at least 65 per cent of a full crop.

URGES STUDENTS NOT TO NEGLECT SCHOOL

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 3.—In a statement issued by W. A. Ferguson, superintendent of the Porterville high school, parents of this city and district are urged to keep their children in school. Due to shortage of labor and high wages, the statement says, there is certain to be a great demand for labor, but it is essential to the well-being of the state that the school establishment be kept intact.

Superintendent Ferguson predicts a material increase in the attendance when classes are called September 10, and believes the total enrollment will reach 350—by a wide margin the largest in the county.

DRAFTED MEN TO GET FAREWELL RECEPTION

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 3.—Plans for a farewell to Kern county boys who leave in the first five per cent of the national selective army one week hence have been completed. The twenty-six men will have special services in their honor at 10 a. m. next Sunday previous to their entraining. Mayor C. L. Taylor will preside and E. J. Emmons, Alfred Harrell and Mayor Harry Hopkins of Taft will address the soldiers. There will be a committee present to pin identifying ribbons on the men and each will receive a small silk flag from Mrs. L. P. [illegible] of Taft, the woman member of the Kern County Council of Defense. Bakersfield clergymen will be asked to give short talks and the municipal band will furnish patriotic numbers.

JAIL CONTROVERSY WILL BE APPEALED

Bakersfield Seeks to Compel Sheriff to Accept City Prisoners

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 3.—The city of Bakersfield will appeal direct to the state supreme court for an alternative writ of mandamus compelling Sheriff Daniel Boone Newell to accept city prisoners at the county jail, whether with or without a warrant in the hands of the arresting officer. E. J. Emmons, special counsel for the city, made this announcement and said that application for the writ would be made on Tuesday at San Francisco. It was planned to appeal to the district court of appeals, but it was found that this would only result in further delay as the sheriff's attorney, E. F. Brittan, has announced that he will carry the case to the highest court.

CANTALOUPE PRICES SHOW SOME STRENGTH

TURLOCK, Sept. 3.—The cantaloupe market is firming up. Prices in the east have strengthened, and local growers and shippers are enthused. Standard crates brought $1 in New York two days ago, and similar prices obtain elsewhere today. Local shipments are also growing larger, one firm having shipped thirteen cars Saturday whereas daily shipments for the previous week had averaged seven.

HUNTERS ARE KILLING FAWNS IN MOUNTAINS

HUME, Sept. 3.—Reports from a reliable source have reached here that a number of spotted fawns have been killed in the vicinity of Sequoia Lake, and also in some instances does have been found killed and left where they were shot. Two cows and a horse were also killed by reckless hunters either from accident or by design. The acts of lawlessness have caused much ill-feeling on the part of law-abiding residents.

On Wednesday Art Bullard arrested M. Farso for shooting at ducks out of season. One mudhen was the result of his marksmanship, which cost him $25.

Frank Watson, wife and child of Patterson and Earl Watson of Fresno, were week-end guests at Hume.

J. H. Pearl and wife and G. Hortenberg and wife of St. Louis, Mo., motored to Hume Wednesday and after taking in all the sights left for the Yosemite valley.

GIVES FAREWELL TO SOLDIER BOYS

Swedish Church at Kingsburg Tenders Social With Program

KINGSBURG, Sept. 3.—A very profound farewell reception was tendered to eight of the young men of the Swedish M. E. church Friday evening. The occasion marked a time before the boys were called to the service of Uncle Sam and bore throughout a true sense of true patriotism. A large number of loyal Swedish citizens responded and participated in the services.

The following program was rendered: Opening song, congregation; America; Prayer, Rev. Cederberg; violin and clarinet duet, Ruth and Arthur Forsblad; address, H. Brandvig; song, "God Will Take Care of You," mixed quartette; piano solo, Lillian Brandvig; recitation, Mildred Olson; speech, C. C. Smith; male quartette, "Battle Hymn of the Republic"; violin solo, Ruth Forsblad; closing remarks, Rev. Cederberg; "Star Spangled Banner," audience. After the program the banquet hall was opened and the evening was enjoyed by all in a most wholesome feast. Before the boys left they were each presented with a fountain pen and a small Testament.

CLOVIS PLANS FINE EXHIBITS FOR FAIR

CLOVIS, Sept. 3.—Plans for the Fresno District Fair are of all absorbing interest in Clovis at present. First in importance comes the Clovis booth which is to be in charge of, and for the benefit of the Red Cross society. The local branch has decided that Clovis should send an ambulance to France, and judging by the contributions previously made and the spirit now being shown, it is not too much to expect. All housewives are requested to be prepared to give one jar of choice canned fruit or vegetables, and a glass of jelly for display, and this is to be sold at the close of the fair for the Red Cross fund. The Fair Association provides the fund for the decoration and has engaged the Clovis Ukelele Club to play on Clovis day. This club is to receive $50 for this engagement. On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. W. L. Blaney, Mrs. A. B. Armstrong and Mrs. G. T. Mathews of the Fair Association will meet with the membership of the Clovis Woman's club to discuss a club exhibit of needlework of various kinds, and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance.

EXEMPTION BOARD TO SELECT KINGS QUOTA

HANFORD, Sept. 3.—Tomorrow the exemption board will nominate the five men who are to be the first five of the county's quota to go to camp. The men will leave here on September 9 for Camp Lewis, Washington. The county's quota to the National army on the first draft will be 164 men. The board has received more than forty of the men passed for service to allow them to be among the first five. The board will decide how to nominate the men tomorrow.

No further exemptions have been granted by the county board on account of supposed alterations in the law regarding married men. The board has granted exemptions in this respect according to the code laid down.

MANILA OPPOSES FIXING OF PRICES

MANILA, Sept. 3.—The government is sending Samuel D. Ferguson, president of the Insular bank, to America to protect Philippine products from possible food control price fixing and to explain Philippine cost conditions and silver values. The peso now is worth more than the coin's par value and the authorities are enforcing a law prohibiting the export of the peso. A national bank issue of peso certificates has been authorized to retire silver coins.

AUSTRALIAN CADETS STUDYING JAPANESE

SYDNEY, Australia.—The cadets at Australia's "West Point," the Royal Military College at Duntroon, have begun the study of Japanese under a specially appointed leader. It is also proposed that Japanese be made a part of the curriculum at the Royal Australian Naval College at Jervis Bay. In addition to this the instructor in Japanese at Duntroon will conduct classes in that language at Sydney University.

In furtherance of the general scheme of making Australians conversant with the Japanese language it has been decided to invite several more Japanese teachers to settle in Australia in the expectation that, after the war, the trade relations between the Commonwealth and Japan will assume very large proportions.

THE MARKET BASKET ARM

Your great-grandfather carried a market basket when he went a-buying and your great-grandmother didn't know what a delivery wagon looked like. Great-grandfather didn't consider it beneath his dignity to "tote" his purchases home and great-grandmother never bought a spool of thread, had it charged, and then asked that it be promptly delivered. Today the average "big" store keeper pays from $10,000 a year upward in carrying his customers' packages homeward.

It costs no more than a cent to ship a California orange 3000 miles to a consumer in the East, but the fruit dealer two blocks away will charge you double that commission to bring it to your house for you. Three of the busiest and "always-on-the-job" factors in the high cost of living are, "Have it charged," "Have it delivered" and "Have it exchanged."

Merchants cannot work for pleasure; they must make both ends meet. This applies to the dry goods dealer, the greengrocer, the butcher and all the rest. When you insist and thousands of others insist, too, that your purchases shall be either charged, delivered or exchanged, it is "Good Night Economy!"

Cultivate a "market basket arm." Carry your bundles home.

If you will do this, you not only will be aiding the State Council of Defense in reducing the cost of living for every California consumer, but you will also release for national military service hundreds of men now engaged in delivering the bundles which great-grandfather and great-grandmother weren't to proud to tote home themselves.—From the San Pedro News.

CHICAGO-ST. LOUIS SPLIT

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 3.—Chicago and St. Louis divided a double header today. In the first game Chicago drove Doak from the mound in the seventh inning, scoring three runs on a base on balls, singles by Kilduff and Wolter and a double by Doyle. Watson replaced Doak. In the next inning the visitors sent over two runs, which won the game.

Goodwin shut out Chicago in the second game, not a visitor getting beyond second base. Smith hit a home run in the sixth, scoring the first run for the locals.

ALEXANDER WINS GAMES.

BROOKLYN, Sept. 3.—Grover Alexander repeated his iron-man feat by pitching both games of the double header and winning them, 5 to 0, and 9 to 3. He held the Brooklyns to four scattered hits in the first contest, which was played in the season's record time at Ebbetts' field of 77 minutes.

He was hit more freely in the second game, but the hard and consistent hitting of the Phillies kept him safe.

DOUGLAS GRANT WINS QUALIFYING ROUND ON LINKS AT DEL MONTE

DEL MONTE, Cal., Sept. 3.—Douglas Grant won the qualifying round here today in the California state championship golf tournament by a margin of one stroke from Dr. C. H. Walter of San Jose. The Burlingame player had an aggregate of 144 for the thirty-two holes, 74 for yesterday and 70 for today. His long game was excellent but he was somewhat erratic on the greens.

Dr. Walter made a score of 70 in the morning. It looked as though it was going to be easy for the San Jose man in the early part of the afternoon round as he had used only twenty-nine strokes after holing out on the seventh green. But the eighth and ninth spelled disaster. Three putts on the eighth gave him a five for a hole that is usually made in three, and the same number on the ninth made the count six, just four strokes wasted.

He came in like a whirlwind and had a fifteen foot putt on the home green for a tie, but he was a trifle short.

Jack Neville was third with a total of 153, followed by George T. Cline, 156, E. K. Johnston, San Jose, 156; W. W. Campbell, Los Angeles, 157; J. C. Niven, Los Angeles, 157; C. E. Maud, Del Monte, 158; A. H. Vincent, San Francisco, 161; Rudolph Wilhelm, Portland, 136; F. H. O'Keefe, 163 and F. E. McGuerrin, Sequoia, 156.

Russell Smith and Vincent Whitney meet Douglas Grant and Jack Neville respectively in the first round tomorrow.

Swimming Tank World's Record Dash Is Broken

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3—Norman Ross' 25-yard swimming tank dash world's record was shattered today at Alameda by George Cunha of San Francisco. His time was 10 3-5 seconds, while the Ross record was 11 seconds. Cunha made the fifty-yard dash in 24 3-5 seconds, equalling the record by Sandy Goodman in the Pacific coast championship at San Diego last year. Goodman took second place today in the events. The meet was sanctioned by the Pacific Athletic Association.

Lowers Coast Record for 120 Low Hurdles

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—Joe Norton of the Olympic club, holder of the 220-yard low hurdle world record, today established a coast record for the 120-yard low hurdles of 14 3-5 in the Labor Day games at the stadium here. The world's record is 11 2-5, held by J. J. Eller.

HONORS ARE DIVIDED.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—New York and Boston divided a double-header today, the locals taking the morning game, 7 to 0, 6 to 2. Boston could get but four noon, 6 to 2. Boston could get but four scattered hits in the first game, while the Giants hit Tyler opportunely. Nehf pitched effectively for Boston in the afternoon, permitting only six hits, three in the ninth.

COOPER IS FIRST, DURANT SECOND IN RACES AT TACOMA

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 3.—Two laps ahead of his nearest opponent, Earl Cooper today won the 100-mile Army Post special event, at the Tacoma speedway. Cliff Durant was second and A. H. Patterson third, only two seconds behind Durant.

In the 25-mile challenge race between Durant and Patterson, Durant won in 17.54 minutes, averaging 87 miles an hour.

It took Cooper 88 minutes to negotiate the 100-mile run. Not once did he go to the pits.

The challenge race, which came about as the result of Durant's defeat at the hands of Patterson in the last speedway contest. Patterson got off in the lead, but Durant overtook him on the back stretch, coming around in front of the grand stand fifty yards ahead, and completing the first lap in 1:32 minutes from a standing start. During the next lap he increased his lead to about a quarter mile and gained steadily all through the race, finishing the thirteenth lap full half a mile ahead. Neither man went to the pits during the contest.

Crew From Harvard Wins Regatta Race

BOSTON, Sept. 3.—The senior eight-oared crew of the Union Boat Club, composed almost entirely of summer Harvard oarsmen, won the feature race of the twenty-ninth annual fall championship regatta of the New England Amateur Rowing Association on the Charles River basin this afternoon. Three-quarters of a length behind was the West Lynn Boat Club's eight. Rockrimmon Boat Club of Springfield was third. Union Boat Club's time was 8 minutes 45 seconds for the one and a half mile coruse.

Dallas Wins Pennant of League in Texas

DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 3.—The Texas league baseball season closed today with Dallas winning the 1917 championship. The other clubs finished in the following order: Fort Worth, Waco, Houston, San Antonio and Shreveport.

Dillon Is Bested in Bout With Gibbons

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Sept. 3.—Mike Gibbons of St. Paul shaded Jack Dillon of Indianapolis in every round of their ten-round fight, according to sport writers who saw the contest here today.

DE PALMA CAPTURES TWO RACES; LOSES THIRD BY FEW SECONDS

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Winner of the first two events at 20 and 50 miles, Ralph De Palma, lost the 100-mile event, the big race of the program, at Speedway park today, because he was forced to stop 18 seconds for a change of tires in the sixty-eighth mile.

The race went to Louis Chevrolet, who covered the distance in 56:29.06. Dave Lewish finished second and De Palma third.

De Palma won the first two races after thrilling drives with Gaston Chevrolet, a brother of Louis and Dave Lewis. Gaston Chevrolet finished second in the 50. The Italian broke the records of the local track in both events. He negotiated the 20 miles in 11:02.07 and the 50 miles in 28:09. He averaged 108 miles an hour in the first dash.

The car driven by Louis Chevrolet was forced out of the race in the eighth mile of the first event by a broken connecting rod. It was his brother's car that he drove to victory in the 100 mile race. De Palma showed the way to the Frenchman until the sixty-eighth mile.

The spectators were given a thrill near the end of the race, when Tom Alley, roaring down the stretch in front of the grand stands, threw a rear wheel. The car skidded toward the stand and then Alley quickly straightened it and held to the track.

The victories in the first two events were the first De Palma ever won at the local speedway, although he has competed in nearly every race.

MORRIS FOULS FULTON IN BOUT TO DECIDE CHAMP CHALLENGER

CANTON, Ohio, Sept. 3.—What was to have been a 15-round boxing bout between Carl Morris of Oklahoma and Fred Fulton of Minnesota was terminated by the referee in the sixth round after Morris had fouled Fulton so often that Referee Matt Hinkel was forced to disqualify the Oklahoman. The contest was to have decided which of the two was the better qualified to meet Jess Willard in a heavyweight championship contest.

Outclassed and apparently destined to become the recipient of a terrific mauling, Morris violated every rule of the boxing game and of good sportsmanship.

Morris started like a game fighter and during the first round plowed into Fulton with reckless abandon. Fulton proved a willing party in the gruelling mixing in the second round which evidently convinced Morris his energies were wasted, for from that time on Morris began to tax the patience of the referee.

The crowd hooted and jeered, but reserved a cheer for Referee Hinkel when the latter asserted his authority.

Hinkel did everything in his power to force Morris to live up to the rules, even stopping a few blows himself in an effort to give the crowd what it expected.

As he left the ring Morris swung at a jeering spectator. Quick intervention of police and soldiers prevented a riot.

Grand Circuit Races

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 3—In the fifth meeting this season on the Grand Circuit, between St. Frisco and Mabel Trask, the son of San Francisco, piloted by Ed Geers, defeated the chestnut mare, driven by Cox, in the feature race of the opening card of the Grand Circuit at Charter Oak park today. Another record for this track was set by St. Frisco, which trotted the second heat in 2:03 flat. The first heat was slow as Al Mack was allowed to set the pace for the first half mile, but St. Frisco went to the front and held the lead until the turn into the stretch, when Mabel Trask drew up and half way down the stretch rushed past the stallion. The chestnut mare tried hard to hold the place against the steady drive of St. Frisco, which never faltered when headed and the speed with which they traveled the last quarter mile, :29 1-4 seconds, was too much for Cox's mare. She broke just before the wire was reached. Geers set the pace again in the second heat and Cox fell in behind with the mare, but when the stretch was reached and Mabel Trask was taken out from behind to make a dash for the lead, she found St. Frisco holding his own every step of the way, and Geers won the heat by almost a full length.

The Whirlwind, 2:04 pace, with four starters, was the only split-heat of the afternoon and proved a surprise. The favorite, Ben Ali, after taking the first two heats, was outraced by Butt Hale, which won the next three and the race.

Bertha McGuire won as she pleased in two straight heats in the Acorn, for three year old trotters.

SEALS AND ANGELS BREAK EVEN.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—San Francisco increased its lead in the pennant race one full game by beating Los Angeles in the morning game while the Oaks were defeating Salt Lake. Seaton, pitching for the Angels had one bad inning, two walks, a hit batter, three singles in the sixth gave the Angels two runs; a passed ball on a third strike, an error, and a single gave the Angels their third run in the seventh. Catcher Baker of the Seals suffered a broken finger from a foul tip off Killifer's bat. Catcher McKee suffered a badly torn foot in Sunday's game, and Jess Orendorff, old time Los Angeles catcher, is now the only working member of the Seal catching staff. Score:

PICKS FRESNO MATERIAL FOR BAKERSFIELD BOUTS

Mel Haubold, of the Bakersfield Athletic Club, was in Fresno yesterday and last night and watched some tryouts. Haubold is arranging for his bouts Friday evening in Bakersfield and announces that he has a great fight card to offer to the fans of the valley. Among the bouts scheduled for the Bakersfield card are Rob Wells of Australia vs. Kid Booker (colored), 145 pounds, return match; Joe McGuirk vs. Battling Ryan, 135 pounds. The special event will be like Chain of Bakersfield vs. Roy Fain of Fresno.

Dick Brenton is here from Los Angeles and will challenge the winner of the Fain-Chain bout.

GOELITZ, CHICAGO CLUB, IS CHAMP ATHLETE OF THIS COUNTRY

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 3—H. Goelitz of the Chicago Athletic Association is the all-round amateur athletic champion of the United States. This was decided in the all-round championships of the national tournament of the Amateur Athletic Union here today. The contests this afternoon closed the three day meet.

Those who entered the all-round championship and scores, with 10,000 as perfect follow:

H. Goelitz, Chicago A. A., 5703.166.

L. Karimo, Young Men's Order, Detroit, 5577.46.

P. F. O'Connor, unattached, New York, 5409.039.

C. E. Buck, Chicago A. A., 5026.666.

Fred W. Kelly, Los Angeles Athletic Association, 5011.13.

Nathan Tycer, St. Stanislau club, Bay St. Louis, Miss., 4925.4366.

A. Brundage, Chicago A. A., 4542.50.

Harold E. Barron, Meadowbrook A. C., Philapelphia, 3473.52.

Louis McMasters, Pittsburg, A. A., 2730.442.

Nine track and field stars contested in the ten events that combined to decide the all-round championship. Each event was judged on the basis of 1000 for the present world's record, or in some cases a shade better, with all marks below a certain minimum—and that a high mark—counting as zero.

Rain twice interfered with the events and the condition of the track made new records impossible. The attendance was small.

J. Howard Berry, of the Meadowbrook A. C., Philadelphia, did not compete in the all-round championships, but entered the relay events.

Much interest attached to the relay races. Ted Meredith made his first appearance in the tournament today when he ran in the last 100 yards of the quarter mile relay. The event was won by the team of the Chicago Athletic Association. Teams of the Chicago Athletic Association also won the four mile relay, the 880-yard relay and the two-mile relay. No records were broken in any of the relay events.

In the one-mile relay Meredith made a quarter of a mile in 49 2-5 seconds.

The basis of scoring events follows, the last number being the lowest mark that counted:

100 yard dash— nine minutes, three-fifth seconds, 1000 points; 14 1-5 seconds, 34 points; 16 pound shot, 51 feet 1000 points, 18 1-2 feet, 1.81 points.

High jump—78 5-16 inches, 1000 points; 40 inches, 20 points.

880 yard walk—three minutes, 23 seconds, 1000 points; six minutes, 22 seconds, two points.

Hammer throw—159 feet, 6¼ inches, 1000 points; 65 feet, 11.67 points.

Pole vault—13 feet, 2 1-4 inches, 1000 points; 7 feet one inch, 3.81 points.

High hurdles—14 3-5 seconds, 1000 points; 21 1-5 seconds, ten points.

56 pound weight—40 feet, 6 3-8 inches, 1000 points; 13 feet, 8.37 points.

Broad jump—24 feet, 7½ inches, 1000 points; 11 feet 8 inches, 6.41 points.

One mile run—Four minutes, 12 2-5 seconds, 1000 points; six minutes, 58 seconds, 7.68 points.

In this and all other around championship events, a mark equal to the world's record counts for 1,000 points and lower marks are scored correspondingly down.

NEW YORK SET BACK.

BOSTON, Sept. 3.—Boston's championship aspirations received a big setback when New York won two games, the morning contest 1 to 0, and the afternoon game, 4 to 1. New York won in the ninth in the morning clash. Pipp doubled, Gedeon sacrificed and after Baker was passed purposely, Hendryx singled, scoring Pipp.

The afternoon game was won by New York in the first inning after two were out, on singles by Peckinpaugh, Gedeon and Baker and doubles by Pipp and Hendryx.

"Dairy Maids" Trim Pittsburg by 4 to 3

LOS BANOS, Sept. 3.—Yesterday, at Pittsburg, the Los Banos Dairy Maids defeated the Columbia Steel Company club by a score of 4-3. The contest went eleven innings and was a pretty pitchers' battle between Artie Benham and "Bugs" Reisgel, the latter having all the better of the breaks. Three hits, two walks and two errors gave Pittsburg all their runs in the first inning. A homer by Scanlon and a three base hit by Raby scored two in the fourth, a walk, a sacrifice and a hit, tied the score in the eighth. Raby hit in the eleventh and scored on an error after being sacrificed to third. Benham went eight innings without a hit off him. Pittsburg will play here next Sunday. The score.

DIFFERENCE IN FRENCH AND AMERICAN EDUCATIONAL IDEAS

Dorothy Canfield writes in the September Century of the difference in education standards and methods in France and America. In "Observations on French Schools" she lays especial stress upon the fact that in France, a woman's freedom to marry and bear children is not curtailed by her entry into the teaching profession.

"You must understand that every one to whom I presented the matter needed a moment to collect himself, to formulate an opinion on the subject, so entirely is it taken for granted. One of my interlocutors, when he grasped what was at issue, leaped joyfully at the idea that it might be possible to prevent women teachers from marrying and having families. This was an official in charge of school statistics, tabulation, reports, etc. He was heartfelt in his denunciations of the unspeakable nuisance of married teachers. Their irregularities messed up his record-cards to a degree that was almost unbearable to a conscientious tabulator, he assured me. It was impossible to keep things in parallel columns. If he had his way, marriage lines would automatically bar any women from connection with the school system. This sounded very like old times in New York.

"At the last I went to the head of the hierarchy himself, M. Liard, the greatly reverenced rector of the University of Paris, and from that militantly vigorous person I had a final and ringing answer.

"'I have,' he said, 'just one complaint to make about married teachers, and that is that there are not enough of them. If I had my way, every woman teacher in France would have a good husband and babies of her own.'

"My tabulator seemed too unimportant to mention just then, so I merely asked: "'May I quote you, Monsieur Liard?'

"He gave a large, but slightly astonished, assent. 'Why should any one be interested in my opinion about the advisability of marriage? It's a pretty well-established institution.'

"'Because, Monsieur Liard,' I said, 'until recently any married woman teacher in New York City who gave birth to a child was thereby automatically dismissed from the service of childhood in the schools. And such mothers are even now frowned on by the authorities.'

"He was frankly dumfounded, managed to articulate, 'Incredible! Monstrous!' but was beyond any other comment."

PEASANTRY AND LAND

"The sole ambition of the illiterate peasant is for land, more land, and again more land. This question will be the principal problem to face not only at the present time, but in the future. This question cannot be settled by the abolition of property in land, because that would be an attack upon the principle of property itself. It cannot be determined by state purchase of the land, and therefore the question will remain, I fear, the most acute problem for Russia, and one which will not infrequently prove the cause of new disturbances in the future. The only solution must be found in an increased tax on land, and this principle leads us inevitably to the doctrines of the single tax as advocated by the great American economist Henry George.

"Leo Tolstoy, who lived closer to the people than any other man in Russia, realized the needs of the Russian people and their struggles for land. He devoted to this question a great deal of his attention, believing that the solution of the problem was in the adoption of the single tax. After studying Henry George's 'Progress and Poverty,' he became a confirmed believer in the latter's principles, and wrote several articles on the subject, particularly 'The Great Inquiry,' and 'The Slavery of Our Times.' He even consecrated to this ideal the whole of the second part of his great novel 'Resurrection.'

"He also tried to interest the members of the second Duma and the president of the cabinet. But single tax interested only a few members of the more radical party. Henry George's followers in Russia are not many, and I fear that during the present crisis his beautiful ideal will not have adequate support, although I hope that at some future time his dream will be realized in Russia.

"This, in brief, is the history of the evolution of liberty in Russia."—Count Ilya Tolstoy, in the September Century.

As To "Trading With The Enemy"

With the Act in Operation, the United States Will Gain the Position of Vantage It Should Have Held Long Ago

By JOHN S. SNOOK

Representative in Congress From Ohio; Member of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee of the House

(Copyright, 1917, by The National Editorial Service, Inc.)

With the trading with the Enemy Act in operation, the United States will be in the position of advantage, while not contravening justice, which it should have occupied since our recognition of a state of hostilities with Germany.

The plain purposes of the measure are, first, to prevent any money or thing of value belonging to a person residing in Germany, or to the resident of any country allied with Germany, from being transmitted to him; second, it gives the President power to prevent any such traffic by any German subject, or by the subject of any country allied with Germany, who is resident in the United States.

In effect, the measure is a means for absolute control of all traffic with the enemy and his allies. It also empowers the President to license trade by German subjects residing in the United States. It provides that every person, company or corporation doing business in the United States must make a statement to the secretary of commerce of all property owned in the United States by an enemy or by the ally of an enemy; and this includes real estate, stocks, bonds, cash and every other possession of tangible value.

It provides for the appointment of an Alien Property Custodian to whom everything must be turned over. Money, and all checks and drafts on demand after having been converted into cash, are to be placed in the United States treasury and invested in United States bonds, while all other property goes into the possession of the custodian for safe-keeping intact, or for administration to the best interests of the properties until the close of the war, when they are to be disposed of by Congress.

Here was where controversy over the bill arose. Representative Ebenezer Hill, of Connecticut, offered an amendment to have all such property deposited to the credit of the foreign owner, to be paid to him, with its increment, at the close of the war. A large majority defeated the amendment and evidenced the wholly clear understanding of Congress of the hostage character of the bill.

The underlying aim, from the bill's inception, has been to place in the hands of the United States government tangible enemy assets, to offset any levies upon or claims against American possessions or American citizens in Germany or in the countries of Germany's allies.

Another aim of the measure is to protect German subjects with property in this country. Under the decision of the United States Supreme Court it is impossible for our citizens to pay to German subjects anything; and before the war is over their creditors may become bankrupt. The provisions embodied in the bill institute a legal and reliable condition of escrow. This purpose is quite as sincere as are the other purposes looking to protection of American citizens and their possessions abroad and to the protection of the national government from transmission of values which are in effect dangerous to the national safety.

There are many German-owned patents in the United States, among them numerous process patents and some essential to the conduct of the war, one being salvarsan. The bill empowers the federal trade commission to license American manufacturers to make any of the things patented by Germans or by the subjects of nations allied with Germany, on condition of payment of 5 per cent into the hands of the Alien Property custodian for the protection of the patentees. This 5 per cent goes directly to the credit of the patentee; its disposition is not left to Congress to determine; he can bring suit to get possession.

Much controversy has arisen over these foreign patents, especially over salvarsan. The declaration was made that we could not actually produce salvarsan, or any effective substitute for it, without the use of the original formulae. United States army surgeons have already tried out the formula of the Dermatological Institute of Philadelphia and it has proved quite as effective, if not better, than the original. The Mayo Brothers, from their own independent experiments, have endorsed the United States army reports. Where previously salvarsan sold to our government at $1.50 a dose, the Institute has offered to supply the government at $1 a dose and ultimately at fifty cents a dose.

The action of Congress in freeing these patents to our government and our people is of supreme importance. In the item of salvarsan it was essential for the national safety.

The measure was drafted by the department of state, of the treasury, of commerce and of the attorney general. Secretaries Lansing and Redfield and Assistant Attorney General Warren appeared before the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce and said that it was absolutely necessary for the national safety to pass a measure of such a nature and scope. It is a measure that covers protection of the United States government in carrying on the war and it is also wholly just and fair to the enemy alien in its protection of his property until the war is over.

Revolutionizing Our Milk Supply

"Dried" Milk to Replace the Liquid Form and to Transfer Dairying Largely to the Southern States

By LUCIUS P. BROWN

Director of the Bureau of Foods and Drugs of the Department of Health, New York City

(Copyright, 1917, by The National Editorial Service, Inc.)

The population of five and one-half millions in the City of New York consumes now two and one-quarter million liquid quarts of milk per day. It draws that supply from a radius the utmost extension of which reaches out 450 miles. It pays freight on all of the two and one-quarter million quarts, plus the weight of the cans and bottles containing the supply. It pays, therefore, for 80 per cent of its supply in the form of water and for the containers of the water that enters into the composition of its milk, although the water can be as well added from the Croton water supply, at the center of consumption.

Here is an annual economic waste amounting not merely to the 80 per cent involved in haulage, but enormously increased by the necessity of refrigeration en route. Besides, the liquid milk is much more liable to contamination and decomposition than any food should be, and especially than this food should be, in view of the circumstance that it enters so largely into the dietary of infants.

In the same City of New York, bakers, confectioners and manufacturers of ice cream are using a milk on which the whole 80 per cent of haulage, plus the refrigeration, is saved, while the milk itself is received immune from the common dangers of contamination and decomposition.

Here we have the strange contrast—tradesmen supplied with a product which is in many respects less in danger of contamination than is that which is supplied to the city's children, while they obtain it at a cost that is materially reduced.

Question: What stands in the way of furnishing to the entire population of five and one-half millions the cheaper and the safer milk?

Answer: One thing in the way is the fact that the cheaper and safer milk is "dried" milk—that is, milk reduced to its solid ingredients, with practically all of the water evaporated. Hence the average consumer confronts this food in a form totally different from that to which she is accustomed, including a slightly different taste.

If, however, the unusual taste can, by perfection of processes, be eliminated, there is no reason why the mere strangeness of form should deter the public from enjoying all the advantages of economy and safety. Processes have indeed been greatly improved during the past few years by refinements in manufacture, so the goal of removal of the unfamiliar taste is by no means unattainable.

The changes which must attend any extensive consumption of this important food in its so-called dried form take on proportions that deserve national attention. In the first place, it is obvious that dairy farming is a special branch of husbandry and, if we can concentrate the herds in one section together with manufacturing plants for the utilization of their product, we can effect very great economies. It follows that wherever the production of milk can be most economically made the concentration will take place.

Those parts of the country where production will prove most economical will be the areas where feed and care of the animals cost least; and those areas will probably be where the herds can be longest run out to grass. That means the less inclement areas of the United States—generally speaking, the Southern portion.

Transfer of the dairy herds to the South would immediately open districts where, previously, people were not given to dairying because of the difficulty of keeping the product in shipping condition, while, in the dried form, the whole country could get the benefit of the product.

It is only within the past few years that the several processes for drying milk—their number precludes any monopoly—have been so nearly perfect as to make their product available for its present uses by confectioners, bakers and manufacturers of ice cream. The likelihood is that the field which may be opened beyond these industries would be so vast that the stimulation in research and invention must bring about soon the perfection requisite for making dried milk desirable in the household.

With attainment of that perfection we may expect it to enter into universal use. We may anticipate an almost complete revolution in the nation's milk supply, accompanied by great cash economies, not only to the consumer but to the producer by reason of stabilization of his income, for then his product must become, in manufacture, a staple as assured on the markets as are the fruits and vegetables that are canned.

In Great Britain dried milk is already used extensively as the supply for stations furnishing free milk to children of the poor, and there it is preferred by the mothers as being more easily kept in the house.

WAR CORRESPONDENCE

BEHIND BRITISH LINES IN FRANCE—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—Assault on a new point in the German lines in the West, such as was begun during the past few weeks in Flanders, is preceded by many weeks of preparatory activity. The moving up to their new positions of hundreds of batteries of artillery is only one phase of this preparatory activity, but one which requires an infinite amount of labor and transport.

To move a battery of howitzers from the old Vimy ridge battlefield to the new Flanders battlefield requires roughly four or five days. An account of this process of transfer has been written for the Associated Press by Lieutenant K. N. Colville, attached to "000" Heavy Battery, Royal Garrison Artillery. He writes:

"We were not sorry to leave Petitcourt. Its last occupants had been certain Huns and these folks are not at the best of times very desirable tenants, while their time in occupation of Petitcourt had latterly been very far from 'best,' not even good, in fact. Long before they left, the houses had been suffered to fall into such a state of disrepair that they were driven to living in the cellars, which they had enlarged and deepened for the purpose. Here they spent days at a time without emerging to the light of heaven, and the sanitary arrangements whatever they may have been, had evidently broken down badly.

"000 Heavy Battery, R. G. A., in due course came to occupy the scene of the desolation which itself had helped to create. This, indeed, is the tragedy of the Heavy Gunner's life. He arrives opposite some pleasant tree-swathed village, admires from his point of vantage across the valley the white chateau, and thinks enviously of the comfortable quarters it is affording to the other side. In a few weeks, or a few months, it is his turn to occupy that promised land. But, alas, he wishes himself back on Pisgah, away from the smell and filth and the ghastly ruin of this shell-torn place.

"Such a spot was Petitcourt, and we were not sorry when we learned that our work here was done, and that we were to go and repeat the operation elsewhere. For before we could again ply our grim task there must be a brief interval of movement, of the open road, of the comradeship it brings to men and horses.

"We had a day or two to make preparations for our journey, and the time was fully occupied. At a pinch we could move at a few hours' notice, but trench warfare encourages one to accumulate stores and articles of luxury which may as well be properly disposed of if possible, for nothing of it all can be taken except the equipment laid down. So our surplus stores were returned to Ordnance, and our odds and ends of furniture, home-made beds and tables saved from the ruins of the village, were distributed among our neighbors. Then, the day before the start the guns were pulled out from Petitcourt, and the whole battery, united once more, spent the night down at the wagon lines, all ready for an early start next morning.

"A light rain was falling, a thing so common in the battle area that we have ceased to count it as good or evil: it is part of the persistent order of nature. The vocalists of the battery caroled snatches of all manner of songs, sentimental, burlesque or bellicose. One of the last kind proudly told how:

"'We fought them on the Marne,
We fought them on the Aisne;
We gave them Hell at New Chapelle,
And here we are again.'

"At last the appointed hour arrived, and the cortege, half a mile long, filed out in column of route to the road.

"All morning we wound along; our progress was slow, for there was much traffic on the roads and we had two villages to pass through. We could not take the direct north-and-south route to our destination, for that would entail too much crossing of the main lines of transport. We must go back to one of the hubs from which these lines radiate, like spokes, and from these turn back along the spoke that leads to our assigned point on the iron-girt wheel's perimeter.

"Mid-day brings a long halt, in the neighborhood of water troughs, and a drink and a bite of food for man and beast. The rain has lifted, the sound of gun-fire has died away behind us.

"After dinner one of the Subalterns, with a sergeant and an orderly, goes on to see to our night's billet. The essentials which the billeting officer must keep in mind are these: Horses, men and officers must be close together. The vehicles must be parked so as to be easily pulled out on the morrow. Room to turn the guns there must be and the standing must be good or the wheels will be deep in the soft ground by morning. The horses stand in an open field, into which some of the limbered wagons are taken for the picketing ropes to be made fast to. The other vehicles are parked in by-roads. At night the horses are taken to water, brought back, rubbed down, fed and left in charge of a picket, while the men go to their billets and the welcome meal which the cooks have been preparing.

"There are other batteries moving on the same road, and one must go out first in the morning. We elect to move first next morning, so we must be up and about early, for there is plenty to do before 'Boot and saddle!' The horses must be watered, groomed and fed, the men must breakfast and their kit be stowed. The routine of this day and its successors is like that of the first. As we move further back, which we do for the first two days, the country changes. Further back the country wears a more prosperous air than in the war-worn parts we have come from. Our second night, indeed, is spent in a town where the civilian element outnumbers the British soldiery, and the houses are real houses and not a night's lodgings for so many 'hommes' and so many 'chevaux,' with particular attention drawn to the commodiousness of their 'caves.'

"Occasionally we pass other units moving up. Once we pass another Heavy Battery returning to the line after a long rest. Its paintwork gleams and its metal twinkles, and its horses are glossy and fat. We envy them a little as we look sadly at our own dear, weatherbeaten 'hairies.' The incoming gunners look a little contemptuously at our much scraped paint and dulled harness.

"By the end of the fourth day we are getting near the firing line again. We see 'archie' bursts in the sky ahead of us; we see 'sausage' balloons, and we pass numberless 'dumps' of ammunition, timber, supply and the rest. That night we are billeted in the village where our wagon lines are in future to be and the next day a short march will take us up to our position in action. But only the guns and a very few wagons will perform that journey. It will be long before the battery as a whole takes the road again. The trek is over. Once again we are face to face with the Hun."

OBSERVE LABOR DAY WITH PARADE AND GRAND BALL

Thousands Line Sidewalks to View Union Men in Parade

Biggest in History of City; Sporting Events Draws Crowd to Park

Fresno yesterday bowed to organized labor in observance of Labor day, and business was practically suspended in the city, while hundreds of people viewed the parade in the morning, enjoyed the sporting events in the afternoon, at Zapp's park, and later attended the grand ball in the Municipal auditorium. The celebration for Fresno, declared by union leaders to be the biggest ever staged in the metropolis of the San Joaquin valley, came to an end at midnight and this morning the artisans will return to their various trades after having demonstrated to the public that organized labor is stronger than in past years.

There were big crowds at the parks yesterday and it was reported last night that Fresno had been the hostess city to the largest number of visitors that had ever assembled in this city for a Labor day celebration. Labor leaders are very much enthused over yesterday's celebration and talk has already started of plans for next year's parade and entertainment.

Parade Draws Crowd

The street parade in the morning attracted a big crowd and the streets were lined with men, women and children as the union men followed the line of march. There were floats as well as decorated automobiles in the parade and the street affair repaid the union men for their weeks of labor in behalf of Labor day.

The parade formed on Kern street, the different divisions falling in from the side streets. There were two 20-piece bands in the parade, and patriotic numbers as well as catchy march music was played. Chief of Police Goehring, Sergeant Fornes and a squad of police officers headed the parade. They were followed by F. L. Irwin, grand marshal of the day, who is also president of the Fresno Labor Council. Irwin was accompanied by his aides. Then came Mayor Toomey and members of the city council in an automobile decorated with American flags. Then followed automobiles in which rode the officers of the two main labor organizations—the Labor Council and the Building Trades.

More than 200 carpenters, dressed in overalls and aprons, marched in the parade and followed the local's float which consisted of a dwelling in the course of construction. The carpenters were seen building the little home and it was nearly completed when the local reaches the place to disband.

The Barbers' Union, nearly 100 per cent strong, marched along and they were followed by Sheet Metal Workers Union No. 252.

All of the plumbers and gas fitters in the parade carried canes representing a piece of pipe with fittings.

The brick masons had a unique float in the parade. The local was represented by the American flag built of bricks. "Build for Permanency," and "Safety First," were the two slogans of the local.

The Teamsters' Union brought out the idea of the value of the teamsters to the wheels of progress. The first float showed workmen constructing a house while the second showed the men sitting around, waiting for the arrival of material.

The Union Label League had an entry of six Shetland ponies and signs were displayed, urging union men to demand the union label.

The members of the Millmen's Union wore a small American flag on the sleeves of their jackets.

A big loaf of French bread, about ten feet in length, was carried by the Confectioners and Bakers' Union men.

There were many other unions represented in the parade and among them were the International Union of Stationary and Operative Engineers, Moulders' Union, Agricultural Workers, Glaziers, Stage Employes, Bartenders, Painters, Retail Clerks, Cooks and Waiters, Laundry Workers, Musicians, Hod Carriers, Electrical Workers, Iron Workers and Motion Picture Operators.

Prizes Are Awarded

The prize committee was composed of Bart Harvey, Judge Briggs, Judge Smith, Ernest Kielle and Henry Dermer. The awards follow:

First—Best line of march and best dressed men—Teamsters Union.

Second—Carpenters Union.

First—Floats, Brick Masons.

Honorary mention—Millmen's Union.

Program at Zapp's.

The program of events at Zapp's park was a particular feature of the day's pleasures. Races for boys and girls, and men and women drew a large number of competitors, and were keenly contested. Dancing in the pavilion attracted hundreds, and the swimming pools were thronged with bathers all afternoon.

The principal event was the tug-of-war between teams representing the Building Trades Council and the Labor Council. The winner had to drag the opposing team across the creek to secure victory. This was accomplished by the Building Trades Council after a strenuous tussle lasting 42 1-3 minutes. During the tug-of-war the supporters of both sides were roused to a light pitch of enthusiasm. The victors were heartily cheered after their exhausting victory. A cash prize of $50 was awarded to the winning team.

The attendance at the park during the day came to a total of 3,000, but the accommodations at the various concessions were never at any time unduly taxed.

A dance at the auditorium in the evening closed an eventful day. There was a large attendance, and Holden's 20-piece orchestra supplied the music.

MOTORCYCLE RAMS INTO AUTOMOBILE

One Man May Die; Two Badly Injured, and Motorcycle Burns Up

Roger Giger is in a sanitarium and may die as the result of an accident yesterday afternoon when a motorcycle he was riding collided with an automobile carrying Victor Johnson, L. A. Adkins and a son of Adkins, at the corner of Hughes and Kearney avenue, two miles west from the western limits of Fresno.

Johnson and Adkins sustained severe and painful lacerations, but their condition is not serious. Giger's motorcycle caught fire at the time of the collision and was soon a mass of twisted and charred tubing and machinery.

Dr. E. L. Bennett, who has charge of Giger's case, said the young man's left side was caved in, breaking a number of ribs, one of which entered the left lung. Giger sustained a compound fracture of the left leg, a possible fracture of the skull, and severe contusions and lacerations of the scalp and face and two fractured bones in the right hand.

According to reports of those who saw the accident, Giger was traveling at an extremely high rate of speed, going westward on Kearney avenue from Fresno. The automobile, driven by Johnson, and carrying Adkins and Adkins' son, was traveling northward on Hughes avenue, and it is said traveling at no more than 15 miles an hour at the time the turn was made from Hughes to Kearney. Johnson said Giger was traveling from 50 to 60 miles an hour.

The motorcycle struck the automobile when the automobile was about 75 feet from Hughes avenue. The position of the car showed that it was well on the right side of the road when the crash came. The front of the automobile was demolished, the steering gear broken and the radiator thrown several feet as the wind shield was broken, showering glass on the faces and arms of the two men in the machine, badly cutting them.

The impact was so severe that Giger and the motorcycle were thrown against the front of the motor car with such force that Giger and the motorcycle were under the automobile when the dust cleared away.

Johnson and Adkins immediately jumped from the car and lifted it off the prostrate man.

Giger is a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Giger, of 2327 Tulare street. The Gigers have a ranch about two miles westward, just off Kearney avenue. The young man's parents were notified and were at the sanitarium shortly after the unfortunate man arrived.

MAN SHOT IN BACK DIES ON WAY TO FRESNO

Auto Truck Driver Is Victim of Small Rifle .22 Caliber

Employer Says He Meant No Harm as He Playfully Discharged Gun

Clyde Mastien lies dead at the mortuary of Stephens & Bean. The body is in charge of the coroner.

George Harm, his late employer, is in the county jail awaiting the decision of the coroner's jury as to who was guilty for the death of Mastien.

Last evening George Harm, owner of two automobile produce trucks plying between Fresno and Coalinga, drove up to the county jail and asked to see the sheriff, explaining that he had shot a man accidentally and wished to turn over the injured man and the gun he had used.

The body of Mastien was taken into the county jail and Dr. Collins was summoned, but pronounced the man dead upon his arrival.

From the story Harm told the sheriff, he had employed Clyde Mastien last Thursday to drive one of his trucks between Fresno and Coalinga, carrying fruit and vegetables and other produce back and forth.

He said that last night he had sent Mastien with his truck on ahead while he rode behind in another of his trucks, which was driven by Clarence F. Wagner. He was taking a 22 rifle to a friend near Fresno. He grew sportive as the miles rolled past, he said, and began shooting the small rifle at passing posts, rabbits, birds and other things. Finally, according to his statement to the sheriff, he playfully shot several shots toward the truck in front of him.

The driver of the forward truck slid from his seat scarcely able to stop the machine.

His employer drove up beside the machine of Mastien and took the dying man into the second truck and, leaving Wagner to watch the first machine, drove with all speed to Fresno.

He said he was afraid Mastien was sinking fast because before he reached the city limits of Fresno, he noticed a strange pallor overcome the face of his driver.

The sheriff and one of his deputies left immediately after they had turned over the body to the coroner, for the scene of the shooting in an effort to corroborate the story of Harm. They found Wagner on duty and his story was practically the same as that told by Harm.

It is said that the dead man had parents in Watsonville, and that he has a wife, though her address could not be learned last night.

Mastien had formerly worked for a street pavement company of Fresno.

Coroner Bean will hold an inquest today.

TO HOLD BAR EXAMINATION.

An examination of applicants for admission to practice law will be held by the District Court of Appeal of the State of California, in and for the First Appellate District, upon Monday, October 15th, 1917, in the court room, Wells Fargo Building, corner of Second and Mission streets, San Francisco.

Applications must be filed on or before October 5, 1917.

The counties comprising the First Appellate District are: Alameda, Contra Costa, Fresno, Marin, Monterey, San Benito, San Francisco, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz and San Mateo.

PROVIDE FOR STRANDED BOYS

Beds at the Dentention home are being held by A. H. Sessions for boys who may be stranded in Fresno. Boys found wandering about will be taken care of for a day or two—until they find work. The seasonal work in Fresno attracts many lads who are ambitious to earn a little money, but sometimes their cash gives out before they have secured a suitable job. It is for cases such as these that Sessions hopes to provide.

CAR CONSERVATION COMMITTEE IS TO MEET TODAY

Sub-Committees Are to Be Appointed to Carry Out Plans

Step Made Imperative by Congestion of Traffic on All Lines

On call from J. W. Walker, chairman of the Fresno branch of the National Commission on car service, the executive committee of the local branch is to meet today, at 2:30 p. m. at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium.

The absolute necessity of the conservation of the transportation facilities of the Pacific Coast in general and the central portion of California in particular has made necessary this movement, put in operation the latter part of August, and now the time has come for the working out of the details of plans that shall assure the Fresno section the service imperative in the movement of the corps now maturing.

This means that every possible effort must be made in attaining efficiency in the handling of cars, the largest possible loading and the greatest expedition in the loading and dispatching of the facilities of the carriers.

Personnel of Committee

The committee called to meet with Mr. Walker includes: W. G. Cochrane, F. M. Hill, Frank Homan, Wm. Glass, Chase Osborn, Jr., L. R. Payne, J. F. Niswander, F. A. Seymour, Frank Romain, J. W. Wrightsen, Charles Campbell, Lucius Powers, L. R. Rogers, S. J. Samelson, Frank Malcolm, J. G. Martin, S. L. Platt, F. Dean Prescott, Dan Desmond, Milo Rowell, T. J. Hammond, W. H. Peterson, Richard O. Somner, A. G. Wishon, H. Graff, Dave Newman, J. P. Hill, J. L. Eichelberger, J. C. Ferger, Frank Minard, J. B. Dorsey, Geo. Waterman, J. C. Phelan, C. L. McFaul, F. N. McPhee, J. W. Emmons, C. G. Fluhr, G. A. Hatfield, H. B. Gregory, G. G. Watson, W. F. Fuller, O. W. Lehmer, Hugo J. Donau, Roy Hall, Ralph Woodward, F. H. Sisson.

To Name Sub-Committees

A part of the work to be undertaken this afternoon at the assembly of the executive committee is to be the appointment of sub-committees for the taking up of the details of operation that must make for the securing of favor on the part of the division of car service of the Interstate Commerce Commission entrusted with the duties peculiar to the carrying out of the directions of President Wilson in the matter of making increasingly effective the transportation facilities of the railway lines of the United States.

KNOCK MAN DOWN AND MOTOR AWAY QUICKLY

George Hunter, residing at the Dorms rooming house, 1319 J street, was knocked down by a huge, slate-colored touring car which raced south on J street last night at 7:30 o'clock. He sustained a broken collar bone and bruises and lacerations about the body which were treated at the emergency hospital by Dr. Adams.

The car sped on so quickly that none of the witnesses of the affair were able to get its number, so far as the police could learn up to an early hour this morning.

The chief of police is particularly desirous of obtaining the number of the machine, which was said to have carried three men in the mad rush down the crowded thoroughfare, and asks anyone who has any idea of the number or of any part of the number to report the same to headquarters, so that he can use his office in apprehending the violators of the law which, according to the chief, "make life and limb unsafe for every woman, child and man in Fresno."

CLASSES AT Y. W. C. A. NOW BEING ARRANGED

A bginners' class in Spanish will commence at the Y. W. C. A. Tuesday, September 15. The teacher is Santiago Goss, who conducted classes at the Y. W. C. A. last year.

Swimming and tennis are now being taken up by the Y. W. C. A. after the vacation period. Tonight final arrangements will be made in regard to the swimming club. Beginners in tennis have been asked to meet the physical director in order that arrangements may be made for a suitable playing time.
